

MRS. MASSIE AND HUSBAND LEAVE HAWAII IN HASTE

An Effort To Hold Naval Officer's Wife In Honolulu Failed

Honolulu, May 9.—(AP)—Mrs. Thalia Massie and others who became embroiled in Honolulu's episode of tragedy and crime, have left Hawaii with tumult, tears and anger marking their departure.

With Honolulu police seeking to serve her with a subpoena, Mrs. Massie, her husband, Lieut. T. H. Massie, and her mother, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, were put aboard the liner Malolo Sunday by a naval submarine tender and with the aid of a naval officer who held police at bay.

The police had sought to serve Mrs. Massie with a formal summons to appear at the scheduled retrial of four men accused of attacking her last September. She was unwilling to proceed with the case in view of the outcome of its sequel, that in which Mrs. Fortescue, Massie and E. J. Lord and A. O. Jones, Navy enlisted men, were convicted of the lynching of Joseph Kahahawai.

The attack led to the abduction and slaying of Kahahawai.

The stand Massie testified she fired the fatal shot after the native had confessed taking part in the assault, Mrs. Fortescue and the three Navy enlisted men were convicted of manslaughter but went free when their sentences were commuted by Governor L. M. Judd.

Strangest Departure

This departure of the principals and their attorneys, Clarence A. Darrow and George S. Leisner, was perhaps the strangest ever witnessed on Honolulu's waterfront.

The piers were crowded, reports of the police hunt for Mrs. Massie since yesterday having heightened the already intense public interest. The royal Hawaiian band was playing on the pier and the lies of flowers were piled high on the shoulders of departing individuals.

Almost unnoticed, the submarine tender from Pearl Harbor station, 12 miles away edged up beside the big liner, Mrs. Fortescue appeared on its deck. Then came bluejackets with Lieut. Massie's dog "Chris" and an assortment of baggage. Lieut. and Mrs. Massie then emerged, accompanied by Captain Ward K. Wortman, commander of the submarine base, to which Massie had been attached.

Blocked Policeman

Captain Wortman lowered his heavy shoulders and collided with Mookini while Mrs. Massie darted up a corridor to her stateroom.

"I shall report you to your superior officer," Wortman stormed. "You assaulted me!" he shouted the policeman.

After a heated exchange of words, apologies were extended by both parties.

Their sailing left none of the lynching case principals in Honolulu. Jones and Lord, the enlisted men, having sailed yesterday on San Francisco-bound destroyers.

Mrs. Massie's departure was generally interpreted as putting an end to the attack case retrial. She had told her story twice in court once in the first attack trial in which the jury disagreed, and again as a defense witness in the lynching case. Darrow had urged her not to go on with it.

Akron Is Off On Great Adventure

New Orleans, May 9.—(AP)—The U. S. navy dirigible Akron passed over New Orleans at 7:50 A. M. en route to the Pacific coast.

Washington, May 9.—(AP)—Westward bound on its great adventure, the dirigible Akron this morning was over the southern states, pointing for Texas and the Pacific coast.

The world's largest aircraft, with eighty men aboard, left Lakehurst yesterday to join the United States fleet off California. She sped south as far as the Carolinas before setting her course across the continent, and radio messages to the Navy Department told of comfortable travel, weather justifying shirt-sleeve costume, while passengers and crew members off duty listened to music from a loud-speaker.

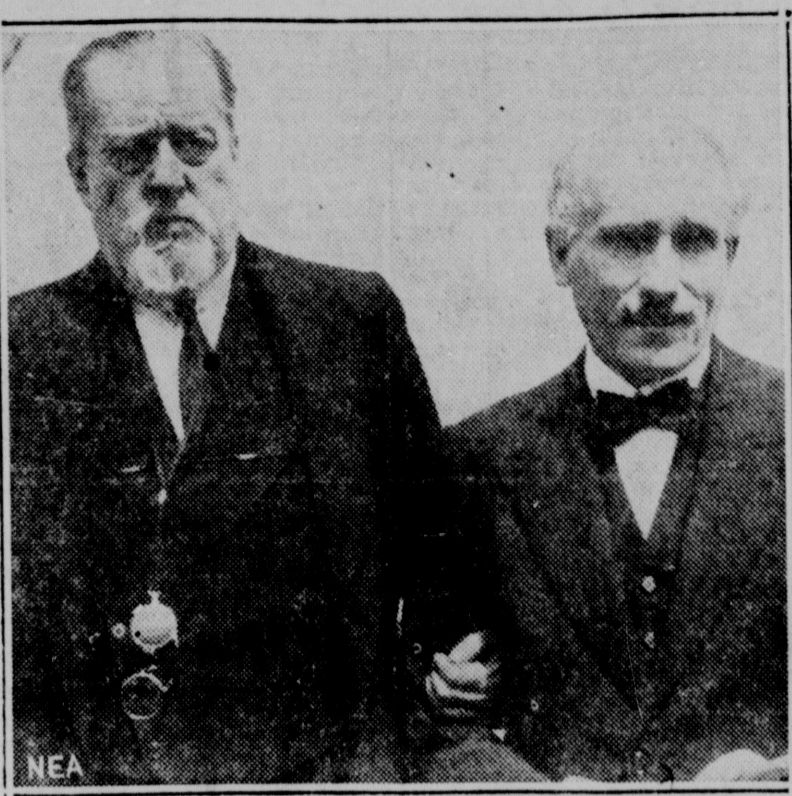

Commander C. E. Rosendahl said the ship was functioning perfectly. She carried two airplanes, which jauntily swung on and were pulled inside after the Akron obtained altitude at the Lakehurst base.

Heavy Hail Storm West Of Woosung

Heavy hail stones driven by a high wind caused several hundred dollars worth of damage Friday evening between 5 and 6 o'clock west of Woosung, when window panes were shattered and the wind drove the hailstones into houses and farm buildings. The storm lasted but a few minutes but the hail, which was described as being as large as walnuts, showered from the west shattering window panes in residences and other buildings.

The Louis Scholl, Charles Parks and Clark Scholl farms were considerably damaged by the hail, which accompanied a thunder storm. The storm covered followed a path about one mile in width and was one of the worst storms of its kind in this section in years.

Famous Musicians in Harmony Again

Arturo Toscanini, famed conductor, gained more than gratitude when he came all the way from Italy to New York for a benefit concert for unemployed musicians. He also ended the 11-year-old rift in his friendship with Giulio Gatti-Casazza, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera Company. The celebrated pair once had been cronies and co-workers, but had become estranged in 1921. Here, however, you see them arm in arm as Gatti-Casazza, left, bade good-bye to Toscanini, right, as the latter returned to Europe.

Curiosity Of Little Girls Wrecked Plot

Taylorville, Ill., May 9.—(AP)—The curiosity of three little girls strolling in a highway wrecked a plot of the authorities to ambush a gang of extortionists suspected of terrorizing more than a dozen residents in this vicinity.

The police planted a dummy package at a spot in Route No. 48 where William Vandever, 89-year-old Taylorville financier, had been ordered by threatening letter to leave $5,000. Firearms ready, the hidden minions awaited the coming of the extortionists.

But the girls came along instead. They picked up the package and before the police could intervene, opened it, laying bare its blank paper contents. A car rolled to the scene, its several occupants surveyed the paper and the driver nimbly stepped on the gas and rolled away.

Pursuit, the police said, was useless whether the car did or did not contain the extortionists.

It was the second failure of such an ambush. Recently the officers carried a package to an abandoned mine but the lighted cigarette of one of them ignited some gas lingering in a deserted shaft. None of the officers was injured in the explosion.

PRINCE MICHAEL AGAIN IN TOILS OF LABOR DEPT.

Will Be Kept Under Lock And Key Until Boat Sails

New York, May 9.—(AP)—The elusive Harry F. Gerguson, self-styled Prince Michael Alexandrovitch Romanoff, was back at Ellis Island today under duress and the chances that he would visit Manhattan again were slim.

Gerguson escaped from a guard Thursday night when he was permitted to journey to Manhattan to collect his walking sticks and wind up other business before being deported for entering the country as a stowaway. He was recaptured last night coming out of a speakery.

By his own admission he spent his three days of liberty visiting friends in eastside speakeries. He had tried to camouflage himself by shaving off his moustache.

But Erwin F. Brown, Department of Labor official, recognized him by an old habit of holding his pipe with his little finger crooked oddly.

Gerguson had $85 which he said had been given to him by friend. Brown said he would try to trace the friends and have them prosecuted under a federal statute making it a felony to aid a fugitive from justice.

He placed his prisoner under lock and key last night and intends to keep him there until tomorrow when he personally will take him to the pier from whence the liner De Grasse will sail for France.

New Turn Made In Lindbergh Search

Norfolk, Va., May 9.—(AP)—Some new turn in negotiations for the recovery of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., was indicated today by the cessation of activities aboard the sea-going yacht Maroon and a supposed week-end plane trip by the negotiators.

The plane flight was presumably made by John Hughes Curtis the principal negotiator, and Lieutenant George L. Richard, Naval officer, since Friday night when the Maroon returned from her latest cruise out to sea. Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was also believed to have left the naval base by plane.

Rear Admiral Guy H. Burreage, retired, and the Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, associated with Curtis as intermediaries, refused to give any information today concerning the negotiations.

The Virginia baseball team has made its best record this year since 1924.

DEATH PENALTY FOR TWO PEORIA KIDNAPERS PLEA

Trial of Abductors of Well Known Surgeon Started Today

Peoria, Ill., May 9.—(AP)—Trial of two women and 10 men on charges of kidnaping the wealthy Dr. James W. Parker opens today in Judge Henry J. Ingram's court with the state avowedly ready to ask the death penalty for two of the defendants.

The two, State's Attorney Henry Pratt indicated last night, were James W. Betson, contractor, and Joseph H. Pursfull, attorney, both politicians, whom the state accuses of directing the kidnap plot.

The other defendants are: James "Red" Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stoops, their son, Dean, Orlo Stoops, Edward Woodford, Dwight Bartlett, Homer Massey, Cecil Menninger and Nellie Menninger, his wife.

Dr. Parker was held captive for the two weeks after being kidnaped March 1 for $50,000 ransom, which he was not required to pay.

The large number of defendants, a court-room full of spectators and argument of preliminary defense motions delayed the trial.

Counsel for Pursfull, moved for a separate trial, arguing that evidence against the alleged actual kidnapers might prove harmful to him.

Pursfull has confessed he acted as intermediary for the kidnapers only in order to help effect the surgeons safe return.

GERMANY SERVES NOTICE SHE CAN NOT MEET DEBTS

World Bank To Consider Three-Year Moratorium At Meeting

Berlin, May 9.—(AP)—Chancellor Heinrich Brüning once more today had served notice on the world that Germany can no longer pay reparations. He added longer pay reparations. He added longer pay reparations. He added longer pay reparations.

The Lausanne results, he said in an address to German provincial correspondents on the government's foreign policy, "will determine what fate is in store for Germany and the whole world."

"The Lausanne results," he said in an address to German provincial correspondents on the government's foreign policy, "will determine what fate is in store for Germany and the whole world."

WORLD BANK TO MEET

Basel, Switzerland, May 9.—(AP)—A moratorium of perhaps two or three years on Germany's reparations payments, followed by an attempt to revise the reparations schedules, was predicted today by a source close to the World Bank for International Settlements.

The prediction was made as the bankers gathered for the second annual meeting of the bank tomorrow, at which they plan to declare a 6 per cent dividend and possibly to renew Germany's $90,000,000 credit.

The general belief expressed was that the Lausanne conference which meets next month, would effect no permanent settlement of the reparations problem.

Gates W. McGarrath, American president of the bank, attended the informal discussions of the world bankers yesterday.

Last year the earnings of the World Bank exceeded the profit of about $24,145,000 earned the first year.

Posse Seeks Killer Litchfield Officer

Litchfield, Ill., May 9.—(AP)—Posses of more than 100 citizens combed the countryside early today in search of a house prowler who apparently killed Policeman William H. Coulter but he remained at large.

Policeman Coulter, 58, called at a house last night in response to a summons from neighbors, who said they saw a man trying to enter it. He was found dead soon afterward, a bullet hole through his heart.

He was well known in the vicinity, having been prominent in Republican politics, and scores of friends immediately joined the hunt for his apparent slayer. Nearby cities and towns were notified.

Former Ashtonite Died In Wisconsin

Word was received today of the death of Anton Albright, a former farmer of Ashton, who passed away at his home in Janesville, Wis., this morning.

He retired from active farming and moved to Janesville about eight years ago.

He leaves many relatives living in Ashton and vicinity, and it is expected that the body will be taken to Ashton for burial, the funeral announcement to be made later.

OFFICIAL RESULTS RECENT PRIMARY ARE MADE PUBLIC

State Canvassing Board Figures Are Compiled By Sec. Stretton

Springfield, Ill., May 9.—(AP)—Former Governor Len Small of Kankakee won the Republican nomination for Governor by a plurality of 111,659 votes over his nearest opponent, Omer Custer of Galesburg, figures prepared for the State Canvassing Board by Secretary of State William J. Stretton showed today.

The plurality of Judge Henry Horner of Chicago over Michael L. Igce, Chicago, for the Democratic nomination for Governor was 159,569 votes, the official count revealed.

Pioneer Native Of Lee County Passed Away Early Sunday

Mrs. Wilhelmene Marie Helene Meppen, life long resident of Lee county, passed away at the Dixon public hospital Sunday morning at 12:10, death resulting from a lingering illness. She was born in Nelson township, November 22, 1854, and had spent her entire lifetime in Lee county and in this vicinity.

For the past few years she had made her home with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wadsworth, who reside northeast of Harmon.

Funeral services will be conducted from St. Paul's Lutheran church Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Lloyd W. Walter officiating, and with interment in Oakwood.

William Meppen, husband of the deceased, preceded her in death several years ago. She is survived by the following children: Misses Martha and Alice Meppen of this city; Mrs. Robert Wadsworth of Harmon township, Louis of Nelson, William of this city and Arthur of Racine, Minn. Two sisters, Mrs. Julia Hubbard and Mrs. Mary Brauer of Dixon also survive.

George Wickersham In Interview Expressed His Conviction

Washington, May 9.—(AP)—George W. Wickersham believes more strongly than ever that a referendum on prohibition is needed. Sixteen months after winding up the work of the notable crime study commission which bore his name, Wickersham expressed the conviction in an interview yesterday that a vote on altering the 18th amendment through state conventions would do much good by crystallizing what he termed the "sober, informed and deliberate opinion of the people."

He knew, he said, that several members of his commission held the same opinion. In this interview Wickersham abandoned the complete silence he had clung to steadfastly in regard to the commission's work. He was asked about the apparent discrepancy between the conclusions appended to the report and the views expressed by a majority of the members in their individual expressions. While the summary report stated that "the commission is opposed to repeal of the 18th amendment," the greater number of the commissioners argued the dry law should be changed in some way.

Varied Opinions.

"Six of the members," replied Wickersham, "felt in varying degrees that prohibition was not a success in its form at that time. Four of us felt that it was not being enforced properly but that sufficient opportunity had not been given to judge it a failure. One member (Newton D. Baker) felt that the whole question should be remitted at once to the states. All were opposed to a return of the saloon."

"The summary represented the best view we could obtain from the conflicting opinions. A majority agreed that if the amendment was revised it should be made to read that Congress shall have power to regulate or prohibit the manufacture and transportation within the United States."

Wickersham said he felt the prohibition investigation and report had overshadowed unduly the great body of work done by the commission on other angles of law enforcement, but he believed that results from this effort and more valuable labor were in process of realization.

Find Rich Widow Slain In Her Bed

Chicago, May 9.—(AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, 68, whom police learned was a wealthy widow, was found dead in bed today, her feet tied and her body covered with bed clothing.

Her apartment, listed under the name of David Stanley, had been ransacked, leading police to suspect burglars. Mrs. S. Dore, a friend, discovered the dead woman when she came to call.

Police did not investigate the cause of death pending a coroner's autopsy. They planned to question all her acquaintances.

An investigation showed that the top of Mrs. Stanley's head had been crushed with a heavy instrument. Her wrists were tied as well as her ankles. She had been dead about 12 hours.

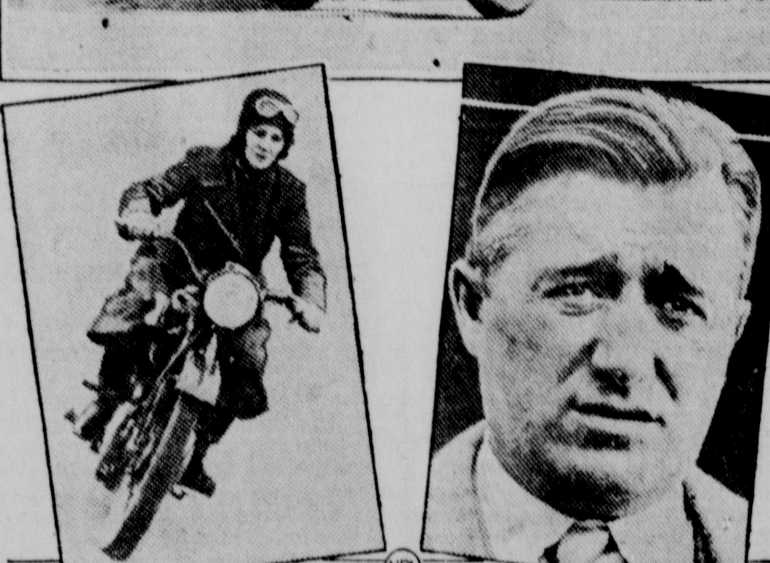

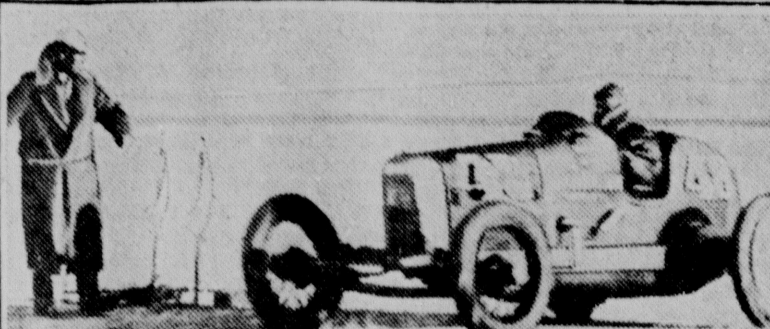

New York's Mayor Seeks Re-election

New York, May 9.—(AP)—Stirred by criticism aimed at him and his administration, Mayor James J. Walker, morning papers said, has decided to seek a third term. He has one year left to complete his second four year term.

The Hofstadter legislative committee's long investigation and Comptroller Berry's recent attacks on the administration's budget and some of the Mayor's political associates have been taken for him.

Some Walker supporters said they look on Berry as a possible opponent of the mayor's in the mayoralty race.

Speed, More Speed!

Speed records are just something to be broken these days. The three people pictured above, representing various parts of the world, are the latest to woo the speed god. In the upper photograph Wilbur Shaw is shown setting a new world's light car record for the mile, of more than 137 miles an hour, on Muroc Dry Lake, Los Angeles. Lower left is Senorita Trache, Spanish motorcycle racer, winning an event in Spain in record time. Lower right is Juan Guadina of Buenos Aires, who hopes to take a new record in the Indianapolis Memorial Day races back to Argentina with him this year.

Gets License For Auto 27 Years Old—

Springfield, Ill., May 9.—(AP)—Although it hasn't free wheeling, floating power and all the newer refinements, an automobile more than a quarter of a century old is still going strong and will take its place once more on the city streets of Chicago this year.

Peter Esslinger, of 3265 Armington Avenue, Chicago, today applied to Secretary of State Stratton for a license to operate the machine. He gave the year of manufacture as 1905.

In the application, Esslinger said that he purchased the machine from the Potter Palmer estate in 1930. The car has no motor number, only the factory number 10,140.

TWO WILL SEEK PRESIDENCY OF FRANCE TUES.

Paris, May 9.—(AP)—Two candidates to succeed President Paul Doumer, who was assassinated Friday, were officially in the running today.

The election is to be held at Versailles tomorrow. Paul Painlevé, former Premier, consented to become a candidate today. Albert Le Brun, president of the Senate, presented his candidacy formally yesterday.

The new president will be chosen by a joint session of the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate.

Thousands of Parisians filed by the Elysee Palace to pay tribute to the dead President. After lying in state until Thursday morning the body will be taken to Notre Dame Cathedral for funeral services.

Detectives of the Surete General said they believed important information on Paul Gourevol, the assassin, might be secured by questioning two men with whom they said he was associated closely here. One of these was M. Javkovlev, editor of the anti-Soviet paper, "Nabat," "The Tocsin."

The Soviet government sent its sympathy through its Ambassador, Valerian Dolgovskoy. The note, forwarded to Premier Tardieu, said the Soviet Union had been "deeply affected by the abominable outrage." The crime provoked "unanimous indignation" in Russia, it said.

At the special request of Madame Doumer, the body of the President will not be interred in the Pantheon with the group of celebrated French heroes which include Voltaire, Jean Jacques Rousseau and Victor Hugo, but in the family vault at Vaugirard cemetery. The Cabinet decided this morning. Other plans for the national funeral at Notre Dame Cathedral Thursday remain unchanged.

State Bank Held Up At Iroquois

Iroquois, Ill., May 9.—(AP)—Two robbers entered the Iroquois Farmers State Bank at 9:30 A. M. today, tied up two employees and forced them to lie on the floor while they fled with $2,000. They last were seen driving west in a red roadster.

The Illinois Bankers Association offered $1,000 reward for information leading to their apprehension.

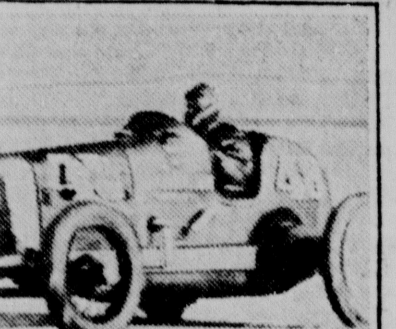

HELD FOR ROBBERY

Springfield, Ill., May 9.—(AP)—Charged with robbing the Korn Bakery Company of Quincy of $175, J. W. Kinnie was arrested by Springfield police today and is held for Quincy authorities. Another man was involved in the robbery but has not yet been apprehended.

A'S RELEASE TWO

Philadelphia, May 9.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics today unconditionally released Joe Boley, shortstop, and catcher Burt "Bucky" Hammond.

SENATE, HEEDING HOOVER'S PLEAS, SPEEDS UP WORK

Some Evidence Is Given Of Congress' Co-operation Today

Washington, May 9.—(AP)—The big tax bill was put on the mark for a sprint toward enactment today, while party chiefs determined anew to supplement its dwarfed running mate—the economy bill.

After refusing 12 to 6 to reopen the rate section of the $1,010,000,000 revenue measure, the Senate Finance committee reported it and bi-partisan determination to press it through is evident.

Meanwhile, the Senate Appropriations committee went to work on the vital supply and economy bills, determined to bring more savings in the 1933 budget.

Over in the House the Economy committee, which had its omnibus bill shattered, was called to meet this afternoon on plans for other moves to cut government costs.

In Accorded Form

In the same form agreed upon last Friday in a conference with Secretary Mills, the billion dollar tax bill was reported by the Senate Finance committee.

The bill raises the income tax and corporation rates above the increases voted by the House. It repeals many of the special excise levies provided by the House and offsets this loss in revenue with a rubber import duty, higher automobile levies and greater admission taxes.

Four other tariff items, oil, coal, copper and lumber, remain in the bill.

In response to urging by President Hoover in week-end conferences, Republican leaders intend to press for prompt Senate consideration of the revenue measure.

Spurred By Hoover

Spurred by week-end conferences with President Hoover, leaders of the Senate pitched in for a driving finish of the congressional session and the all-important legislation to balance the budget.

Despite the tremendous size of the task ahead, these men who gathered at the White House Saturday and Sunday nights emerged voicing confidence that an early satisfactory solution of the national fiscal problem would be obtained.

Enactment of the remaining vital bills before the session is brought to a halt five weeks hence by the national party conventions, depends now principally on the Senate. Besides the big revenue bill and the economy measure which must be increased by about $200,000,000, a majority of the government appropriation bills remain to be enacted by that branch. Failure to pass any of them within the brief five weeks might compel a return of Congress in July.

Cooperation on non-partisan lines was the watchword brought out by the President's conferees. Though all were Republicans, their spokesmen, Secretary Mills placed great emphasis on this point.

"We discussed," he said, "the best methods of assuring cooperation in putting through the economic program and the revenue bill. The effort has got to be to maintain all around cooperation."

Second Veto

President Hoover today vetoed for the second time a bill to provide hospitalization and the privileges of soldiers' homes to the men who served in the Quartermaster Corps during the Spanish American War, the Philippine Insurrection and the Boxer uprising.

Edward F. McGrady, speaking for the American Federation of Labor, warned a Senate committee today there is danger of revolt unless the federal government takes action to relieve unemployment.

Testifying before the Senate committee considering the Costigan relief bill, he said "if something is not done and starvation is going to continue and perhaps increase, the doors to revolution are going to be thrown wide open and leaders of the country ought to know it."

TERSE ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED IN DIXON DURING DAY

HOSPITAL BOARD

The Dixon Hospital Board will meet Tuesday morning at 9:30 at the Nurses Home.

C. C. DIRECTORS

The Board of Directors of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce will meet at the Chamber's office at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening.

IN POLICE COURT

Nate Drew of this city was assessed a fine of one dollar and costs in police court by Police Magistrate A. E. Simonson yesterday on a charge of violating the city motor vehicle ordinance.

TRIO ARRESTED

Hugh McKay, III, Richard Eberly and Jack Gohlson of this city were arrested last evening about 7 o'clock by police, who were summoned to the home of Klonda Kerley, 423 Spruce street, where Kerley charged that the trio had driven over his garden in their automobile and when he attempted to remonstrate they assaulted him and his wife and beat them.

In police court this morning McKay, who is on parole out of the County Court, and Eberly, entered pleas of guilty to charges of disorderly conduct before Police Magistrate A. E. Simonson, who assessed fines of $25 and costs in default of which they were remanded to the county jail. Gohlson retained counsel and his hearing was continued until one week from today.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT

Mrs. John Vaile is suffering from injuries received in an accident on Friday night, and is being cared for at the home of her mother-in-law Mrs. Mary Vaile. Mr. and Mrs. John Vaile started for his mother's home last Friday evening when the cigarette lighter in the car had a short circuit and the occupants thought the car was on fire. Mrs. Vaile jumped from the moving vehicle and sustained a broken bone in her right shoulder, bruises and a general shaking up and John, who also jumped, received no injuries. The car stopped after a few yards and it was seen that there was no fire, the trouble being in the cigarette lighter.

FROM WELFARE ASSN.

W. B. Brinton of Highland Park, former Mayor of Dixon, passing through the city Saturday, and learning of the drive for welfare work, left his check for $100 to further the campaign.

Anyone having a "hand washing machine" will confer a kindness by donating it to the Welfare headquarters. Call 53. The mother of five children is badly in need of it.

Mrs. Frank Olin, 218 E. Everett St., donated several jars of fruit to the Welfare headquarters Saturday.

ENJOYABLE EXPERIENCE

Members of The Telegraph's reportorial and editorial staff had an unusual and enjoyable experience Saturday in watching, and assisting when necessary, a staff of very capable and happy Dixon high school students who got out Saturday's edition of the paper.

Members of the high school staff were managing editor, Rae King; city editor Willard Thompson Jr.; reporters Howard Crews, Tom Mosher, John Mitchell and Dorothy Wachtel; society reporters, Lillian Covert and Margaret Rogers; proof readers, Marguerite Mondlock, Iola Ringer and Marion Ringer.

These young people, strange to the work when they started Saturday morning, "caught on" quickly and did a mighty fine job in every way.

A MEDAL! A MEDAL!

Crookston, Minn.—The least they should give Carl Berggren is a Congressional Medal. As he walked out of a bank here at closing time, Carl counted some change he got. There seemed to be $80 too much. The bank had closed and locked its doors, but Carl hammered on the glass until he attracted the attention of a clerk. He was let in the bank to return the money.

MINNESOTA STUDENT IS REAL ECONOMIST

Minneapolis, May 9.—(AP)—As an economist, Arnold Samuelson, bows to no man.

He is finishing the year as a senior at the University of Minnesota on one thin dime and a $200 loan.

And after paying his expenses, his budget shows he will have "squandered" $79 by June 1.

Here is how he does it.

He cooks his own meals at a cost of eight cents each, and earns his lodging in a fire station by opening and closing the doors when the firemen dash out during the night on fire calls. Transportation costs are nil because he walks the two miles to school.

Samuelson, a journalism student, obtained the loan from a university fund, paid $93 for tuition and fees for the year and set $107 aside for food, clothing and the pursuit of pleasure. Knowing himself for a "spend-thrift," Samuelson arranged to draw only $15 of this a month.

TRAGEDY MARKS KNIGHTS PARADE YESTERDAY P. M.

Rockford Sir Knight Collapsed, Died After March

The district convocation of Knights Templar in Sterling Sunday, in observance of Ascension Day, was marred by the death of Sir Knight George Hodges, 58, a member of the Rockford Commandery drum and bugle corps, who collapsed at the Sterling Coliseum, at the conclusion of the parade, and died at the Sterling public hospital soon afterwards. His son, George, Jr., 16, was also a member of the Rockford corps and was nearly prostrated by his father's tragic passing.
The convocation was attended by nearly 1000 Sir Knights in full dress uniform, representing fifteen Commanderies, and about 125 of the visiting Sir Knights were from Dixon. There were numerous Templar musical organizations, including the Peoria Commandery's band and the Dixon Commandery's drum and bugle corps. The address of the afternoon was delivered by Hon. E. J. Brundage, former Attorney General of Illinois and Past Commandery No. 2 of Lincoln Park Commandery No. 2.

MRS. SIMMS MAY TRY TO SEND HER HUSBY TO SENATE

Capitol Hears Rumors Former Mrs. McCormick Is Active

Washington, May 9—(AP)—Rumors have reached the Capitol that former Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick of Illinois, now Mrs. Albert G. Simms of New Mexico, is making plans to put her new husband forward as a candidate for the Senate from New Mexico in 1934.
Although disappointed by her defeat in 1930 in her spirited race against J. Hamilton Lewis, Democrat, her intimates say she was far from crushed.
In her gesture to follow the foot steps of her father—Mark Hanna—in the Senate, she came to the House of Representatives, from Illinois in the Hoover landslide of 1928. During her one term she spent most of her time campaigning for the Senate. She defeated Senator Charles S. Deneen for the Republican nomination by running on a dry platform. But she modified her prohibition stand in her race against Lewis, an out and out wet, and lost.
Meanwhile on the House floor a romance had its inception. The then Representative Simms of New Mexico, who left the banking business to enter politics with the Republicans in 1928, wealthy widower, and the widow from Illinois became close friends.
Simms was beaten by Representative Chavez, Democrat, in 1930, and when both came back for the "lame-duck" session last year they were seen together often around the House and Mrs. McCormick frequently entertained him at her residence in the fashionable Georgetown section of Washington.
After the marriage, it was announced they would make their home in Albuquerque although she still has vast holdings in Illinois and a stock breeding farm in Byron.

Auto Mishap Leads To Woman's Arrest

Chicago, May 9—(AP)—Miss Mollie Gilbert, 28, of Kansas City, was taken to Champaign, Ill., last night by the authorities of that city to answer a charge of having dodged a $35 hotel bill.
She was arrested here last Tuesday after her automobile, driven by William Cunningham of Chicago, knocked down three gasoline pumps and started a filling station fire.
While Cunningham was fined $25 and costs, she was freed and returned to claim her car but the police re-arrested her, having learned she was wanted in Champaign.

Twenty-Eight Die In French Slide

Lyons, France, May 9—(AP)—Thirty-eight persons were believed buried today under landslides which swallowed up two apartment houses in the outskirts of Lyons.
Twelve injured were removed before rescuers were ordered away by Edouard Herriot, the mayor and former Premier, who himself escaped death from another slide only by leaping to safety.
The rescue parties returned to the ruins, however, after cries were heard in the wreckage. At midnight they discovered a woman, pinned by a beam. She said she was not hurt.

NOW HE IS TWENTY-ONE
EARL little lad,
So swift the years have fled,
And now I stand tiptoe to reach your lean brown cheek.

The long play days are done
And your eager feet have sped
To a land far off, where stirring deeds
Will test your strength and skill.

Dear little lad,
So short a time it seems
Since you listened with your eager eyes
To your mother's fairy tales.

Oh, little lad,
With head so full of youthful dreams
Though you dwell in the uttermost part of the sea,
Love's faithful promise comforts me.

And though your pathway lies
Through tangles forest
Or the trackless skies
We know thy loving wisdom guides and guards
The fire shall not kindle
Nor the waters overflow
For his unflinching Love goes with you.

All the way.

E. R. B. Class In Regular Meeting

The E. R. B. class of St. Paul's Lutheran Bible school held their regular meeting Thursday evening in the church parlors. The meeting was called to order with a song. The Scripture lesson, the second Epistle of John was read by Mrs. Christine Gonnemann. This was followed by all praying the Lord's Prayer. Secretary and treasurer's reports were read and approved. A short business meeting was held during which time there was roll call. Another song followed. The meeting then adjourned with singing "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow." Mrs. George, our teacher gave a delightful talk on her trip to Denver. The hostesses then served delicious refreshments and a social hour followed.

Mrs. C. J. Hart Entertains Dixon Unit, H. B.

The Dixon unit of the Home Bureau had the pleasure of meeting again with Mrs. C. J. Hart, 505 East Chamberlain street, on Wednesday afternoon, May 4th. Several guests were present. The meeting was opened by the vice chairman, Mrs. Hart, and minutes were read and approved. Roll call was answered by "Flower Gardening." The advisor gave the lesson, "The Place of Meats in the Day's Meals." This was followed by general discussion. Several games and contests were enjoyed by all and the afternoon was most happily spent.

Conference Contest Closed: Blues Won Over the Red Side

The Young People's Conference contest closed last night with the Blue Side winning over the Red. The score stood as follows: Blues, 1,249,050 and Reds 1,082,870 points.

The conference will continue throughout this week with training classes on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evening at 6:45. There will be no meeting Wednesday night.

Mrs. Harris addressed the conference last evening at the 6:00 o'clock Vesper services. In part she said "I just wonder as I look into your faces where you are going or where you will end up. Sometimes you are going to have to choose the road you are going to travel."

"First you are just a tiny tot. Then you grow older and start into school. Those are the happiest days. You didn't have a worry then for you had only to open your hands and accept. Then, you come to the fork in the road. There is the beautiful wide road with the sign 'Take This Road for Pleasure and Riches.' Down this road is the way of evil. The Devil wrote that sign and he will give you what you want. He will offer just what he can you for. Boys and girls everywhere are listening to him."

"If you get yourself in a mess for the Devil there is almost no way out. There are so many things that the Devil leads into. Think. How would you like to ride with some one driving a car when he has been drinking or how would you like to go up in an airplane with a pilot who has been drinking. You are driving a ship is more valuable than an airplane. You are driving your own lives."

"Parents are too broad-minded these days. They want to be pals with their children. But it is hard to correct a pal. It seems that authority is slipping in such cases. The buildings on the two roads of life differ. On the broad one are dance-halls, speak-easies, theaters and the like but on the little narrow road are the churches, the houses built for the benefit of humanity."

"On this way we find Jesus who said, 'I come that ye might have life and have it more abundantly. Young people need a friend. When you can't go to any body else with your problems how easy it is to talk to Jesus. God isn't sad though if you think He is, just try going to Him when you are glad.'"

"On the wide road is Satan holding in one hand everything you desire but he doesn't let you see what is in the other hand. In it he holds a black curtain over the future. On the narrow road we see Jesus, the most beautiful. He has been all the way to the End of the Road and He can safely guide."

Mrs. Cantrell closed the message by singing "At the End of the Road." This was very greatly enjoyed and all hope she will sing for us again soon.

Charles W. Daugherty of Indianapolis, Ind. led in the closing prayer.

Don't forget the big banquet at 7 o'clock tonight at the Christian church.

JUNIOR MOTHER-DAUGHTER BANQUET POSTPONED

The Junior Mother and Daughter banquet to have been held Tuesday evening at the Methodist church has been indefinitely postponed.

Charming Recital
Sunday Afternoon
St. Luke's Church

One of the most delightful musical events of the spring season was the recital given Sunday afternoon at St. Luke's Episcopal church, by Mrs. Lester Wilhelm.

Mrs. Lloyd Scriven and Clinton Fahrney. There was an appreciative audience who greatly enjoyed the work of the three musicians, and it is hoped that more of these Sunday afternoon concerts will be given. The generous silver offering taken at the close of the recital will be devoted to Dixon Welfare work.

Following is the program presented: "Arioso in the Ancient Style" (Mrs. Fahrney).

"If With All Your Hearts (from Elijah)" Mendelssohn
"Father in Heaven" Luigi Luzzi
(Mrs. Wilhelm)

"Contrasts" J. Lewis Brown (Mr. Fahrney)
"The Ransomed of the Lord" (Mrs. Fahrney)
"O Lord, Our Lord" Arthur Thayer (Mrs. Lester Wilhelm)

"Dawn" Cyril Jenkins (Mrs. Fahrney)
"Crescendo" Per Lasson (Mrs. Fahrney)
"O Divine Redeemer" Chas. Gounod (Mrs. Fahrney)

"Ave Maria (from Otello)" Verdi (Mrs. Wilhelm)
"Allegro Jubilant" H. V. Milligan (Mr. Fahrney)

"Like as the Hart" Frances Allitsen (Mrs. Fahrney)

Mrs. Fahrney and Mrs. Scriven gave much pleasure in their selections on the pipe organ. Mr. Fahrney playing with his accustomed nicety of time, interpretation and expression and Mrs. Scriven displaying unusual poise and expression. Especially lovely were the numbers "Allegro Jubilant" by Mr. Fahrney and "Crescendo" by Mrs. Scriven. Mrs. Scriven is a pupil of Mr. Fahrney.

Mrs. Lester Wilhelm has a beautiful mezzo soprano voice of unusual range and sweetness and sings with exceptional expression and understanding. Her diction is always perfect and this adds very much to her singing. Her program was well selected and her lovely voice in all its sweetness and power was given exceptional opportunity in the selections "Father in Heaven" by Luigi Luzzi and "The Ransomed of the Lord" by James MacDermid, and "O Divine Redeemer" by Gounod. Mrs. Wilhelm is no stranger to Dixon audiences and her singing is always a genuine treat.

The recital yesterday afternoon was a successful and enjoyable event and it is hoped that it will be repeated soon.

Mrs. Ralph Lehman Hostess to Aid Soc.

On Wednesday, May 4th, the members and friends of the St. James Aid Society met at the home of Mrs. Ralph Lehman near Grand Detour and spent a happy day with Mrs. John Patterson, Mrs. Bessie Brandt, and Mrs. Elizabeth Missman assisting.

The table and house decorations were cut flowers and potted plants. A delicious picnic dinner was an enjoyable feature of the day, the hostesses serving roast pork and many other good things to go with it.

At 2 o'clock the meeting opened by all singing "America," as this is national music week.

After the president gave the scripture reading a short business session was held.

Mrs. Patrick Duffy and Mrs. Clarence Bothe took part and little Richard Shaffer gave a recitation on the enjoyable program.

The meeting closed with all repeating the Lord's Prayer.

This meeting proved a very happy occasion and all had a delightful time at the Lehman home. The June meeting will be held with Mrs. August John.

Eightieth Birthday Was Honored

On Sunday, May eighth, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kling of Davenport, entertained twenty guests at the Rice tea rooms, in Dixon, the occasion being Mrs. George R. Rhodes' eightieth birthday.

Bowls of sweet peas and violets and potted plants decorated the rooms the color scheme being pink and yellow.

After a three course dinner Helen Rhodes sang very sweetly "Little Mother of Mine." Mrs. Rhodes' eldest son, Clinton B. Rhodes read congratulations and tributes to Mother from absent members of her family. Rev. J. A. Barnett, William Rhodes and C. L. Kling gave toasts honoring Mrs. Rhodes.

LINEN TURNS FORMAL FOR EVENING GOWNS

Paris (AP)—Linen evening gowns are the latest in summer night styles. They are made of a heavy non-crushable linen guaranteed not to wilt under the pressure of an evening's dancing. One smart frock of daffodil yellow linen is worn with a narrow twist ed belt and a short jacket wrap of brown velvet.

AMERICAN LEGION AUX. TO MEET WED.

The American Legion Auxiliary will meet Wednesday afternoon in the Legion hall at 2 o'clock. All members wishing to donate cooked to the North Chicago Hospital please bring them at this time.

STEPS TO BEAUTY

Open-toed sandals, to be worn without stockings or with toe-less hosiery, should be given careful thought before donning.

If you are bent on wearing bare-foot sandals, begin now to get your feet looking their best.

First, how about calluses? If you have any at all on the outside of your little toes or the ridges along the inside edge of your foot, give them this treatment:

Soak in warm soap water for 15 minutes every night. Then use some powdered pumice on them in the following manner: "Take a nail buffer, spread the pumice on it, and gently but firmly go over the calluses until all the edges disappear. Using powdered pumice is much gentler than using a pumice stone."

When you finish this treatment use one of the hand balms that are on the market. They penetrate more easily than cold creams. Rub your toes carefully and thoroughly with some of this:

I have spoken of massaging the feet to relieve them in hot weather. You should do it for beauty's sake, too. They respond in amazing manner.

Heels must be given care, as well as toes. That back ridge of the heel is apt to be as rough as a scrubbing board, especially if you wear pumps most of the time.

Use some of your pumice on them. A salt rub is good, too. Then soften the skin with some kind of lotion and massage with heavy nourishing cream. For this skin is apt to be far too dry.

The last Business Women's Banquet to be held in connection with the Women's Work in the Grady Cantrell campaign will be held Wednesday evening at 6:15, at the Christian church. A good time is being anticipated as the program will run throughout the entire charge hour.

The charge for the meal is very nominal. Tickets may be secured from any one of the following: Miss Elizabeth Ford, Mrs. J. E. Reagan, Miss Florence Shaw, Mrs. C. R. Street, Miss Lola Beckingham, Mrs. J. A. Marshall, Miss Helen Miller, Mrs. Ora Bender and Mrs. Eva Burdard. Every business woman in Dixon is invited to attend.

Girl Scout News
Notes of the Week

MONDAY—Brownie Pack of the North Side boarded the Magic Trains at 3:45 sharp to make the hazardous journey through Brownie Land. The Brownie Local was run by a crew of two, engineer the Tawny Owl; Conductor, Nancy Warner. The Golden Hand Express was piloted by Mary Alice Sargent with the Brown Owl collecting tickets. At each station the passengers were required to demonstrate their knowledge of Brownie duties.

The High School Troop entertained with a bridge at the home of Miss Catherine Buciner. A short meeting was conducted at the beginning of the evening. Plans for the pageant were presented at this time. The favor for high score at bridge was awarded to Miss Ann Crabtree, while the low favor was won by Miss Imogene Greer. Delicious refreshments concluded one of the most successful social events of the Troop.

WEDNESDAY—Troop IV were unable to hold their regular Tuesday meeting, but met at the same time and place on Wednesday. The meeting opened with a game testing their powers of observation. A test on the code was then administered. After reading the episode to be portrayed by the troop in the coming Pageant, the group enacted the major parts of doos. Plans for costume and properties were discussed.

Troop V held their weekly meeting at the home of Miss Emily Swan. Miss Geraldine Rice entered the Troop as a new member and was warmly welcomed. The next meeting will be spent in designing costumes for the Pageant.

The Lightning Patrol of Troop VI were guests of their patrol leader, Miss Margaret Davies, at a six o'clock dinner. The patrol met at 4:30 to hold their business meeting, which was followed by songs and games. Dinner acclaimed its deliciousness. Mrs. Davies then invited all to come into the house, where they found a large cake containing twelve pink candles; which was very appropriate as the occasion honored Miss Margaret's twelfth birthday. Ice cream and cake was then enjoyed by all during a period of great silence, for all the guests wished on their portion of the birthday cake and were forced to remain silent until it was eaten. The remainder of the evening was spent in group singing of Scout songs. All voted it the finest birthday celebration ever attended and were sorry to see it end. Miss Margaret received many lovely reminders of the day from her friends. Miss Margaret Ballou, lieutenant of the patrol, and Mrs. Hosper, director, were also guests of Miss Margaret.

THURSDAY—Troop I had a regular Indian meeting. The troop will represent Indians in the coming Scout Pageant, thus accounting for the great interest in those people. Indian dress and customs were discussed, while special features were assigned to individual girls. After the patrol meetings Indian songs were practiced. In a general meeting, plans for the coming week, which is dedicated to Mothers' and Daughters, were made. It was decided to hold a special meeting next week with the mothers as guests of honor. Returning once more to their role as Indians the troop spent the remainder of the hour playing a real Indian game called "Chicken Pull". This was another 100 per cent meeting.

The Thunder patrol of Troop VI did not hold a regular meeting as they have been studying first aid under the supervision of Dr. Kenyon B. Segner. This patrol neglected to sign for the regular course at the hospital in March. They are very grateful to Dr. Segner for devoting the time to help them fulfill this requirement.

Brownie Pack of the South Side ventured into the realm of the theatre at their weekly meeting. Two little playlets, Red Riding Hood and Goldilocks, were portrayed. These were very popular and proved to be well done. In Pow Wow circle, Mother's Day and kindnesses that Brownies could show her were discussed. During the latter part of the meeting complicated forms of marching were undertaken very successfully. It is most gratifying to observe the improvement in poise that such exercise affords.

S. S. BRIDGE CLUB MET TODAY
The members of the South Side Bridge club were entertained today at the home of Mrs. Willard Thompson, with Miss Lucy Badger as assisting hostess.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE LOOKING GLASS.

There is something distinctly refreshing in the fact that the English-speaking world is holding a celebration because a busy man took time to write a fairy tale for a little girl 67 years ago. Mrs. Alice Hargreaves, who is the Alice of Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland," has come to America to take part in Columbia University's celebration of the 100th anniversary of the author's birth.

It seems timely that this event should take place when material depression has dimmed so much of the outward glory of life. There is comfort in the knowledge that the spell of the imaginary hasn't quite lost its hold on grown-up hearts.

We are remembering that the old story was a normal part of childhood. It belonged to that gay, glad period when life was turned to a piper's song, and nobody had discovered that the melody came out of a box where a hurdy-gurdy played around the corner. Every road went some place then.

Anything might happen at the road's turning. There was laughter in the book, gaiety and adventure. We stepped through a looking-glass into a world where a rabbit and a small girl went exploring, queens played croquet, and a turtle sobbed. Unconsciously child readers put away the illusions to keep.

By calling attention again to this make-believe page from childhood we realize more fully that the only things in life that are real and lasting are the unseen things—faith, love, loyalty. It isn't possible to eat a magic cake, and grow small, as Alice did on an unforgetten day, but we are discovering that, under the bic-a-brac of the years, old dreams are as fragrant as ever.

The fact that a prosaic, business-depressed world will take time off to celebrate the birthday of a man who wrote an enchanted tale proves that it still believes in fairies. That it hasn't forgotten that anything may happen on the other side of the look-glass.

ARITHMETIC IN THE SCHOOLS.

If any school children could have heard Dr. Robert K. Spear of New York University deliver a little speech the other night, they would have decided that they were listening to a doctrine almost too good to be true.

Dr. Spear, to the surprise of all, declared that at least 85 per cent of the arithmetic taught to school children nowadays is dead wood and might as well be abandoned. Teaching children how to extract cube roots and how to handle complex fractions, he believes, is a waste of time; and he said:

"If we teach all the children the arithmetic necessary in the following actions—buying at a store, making change, reading, writing letters and traveling—we will have covered a large percentage of their total use of arithmetic."

This is all true enough. The youngster who ever has to use the more complicated arithmetical exercises, after he is out in the world, is the exception. Most of us can go through life quite happily without that sort of knowledge.

But this very quickly brings us up against that perennial problem of the schoolmaster; is the pupil to be taught only those things which will be of direct benefit to him later in life, or is he to be put through a stiff course of sprouts with the idea that the mental discipline involved is going to make his mind more capable?

During the last decade or two the tendency in this country has been to emphasize the strictly utilitarian side. Latin, Greek and higher mathematics are declining, to be replaced by courses in economics and business administration; if the schoolboy is to get less arithmetic, that will only be in line with the current trend.

But there is a lot to be said for the "mental discipline" idea. After all, one of the prime objects of any educational system is to teach pupils how to use their gray matter to the best advantage; and if sweating away at the intricacies of cube root or Caesar's Commentaries helps do that, the job may not be quite as useless as it looks.

THE "COLLEGE" SALESMAN.

One of the major pests of the housewife's life during the summer months is the peripatetic salesman who goes about from door to door peddling magazine subscriptions, gadgets and whatnot in order to "win a scholarship." Sometimes he is really a college student and sometimes he isn't; either way, he is usually an unmitigated nuisance.

It is comforting therefore, to notice that 27 eastern colleges and universities have gone on record as opposed to this practice and have announced that they will try to stop it.

The chief trouble with this kind of salesmanship is not so much that the salesman is a nuisance, however, as that he takes the wrong attitude in trying to sell his goods. He doesn't try to sell them on their merits; instead, he seeks to arouse sympathy for himself. In many cases he gets fairly close to the attitude of the regular panhandler. He gives himself, thus, a very bad training for his future career.

Rockefeller can have his millions. I can see again.—Jacob Liebman, 87, of New York, blind for 20 years.

Stars Turn Hollywood Premiere Into Style Show

GLAMOROUS EVENING WRAPS GARB FILM FOLK
GATHERED FOR FIRST NIGHT OF NEW PICTURE

LEFT—Cute and young and chic was Patsy Ruth Miller, in a racy princess cut gown, with the new braisiere top and a criss-cross rear decolletage, topped by a ruddy hued little brat of a bolero jacket, with short sleeves, no front to speak of and a regal white fox collar. The dress the new ankle length and ruddy-hued, open-strapped sandals matched the jacket.

ABOVE—Puffed sleeves, a pointed sable collar and a tight, high-waisted closing to the little matching jacket of Mrs. Edward G. Robinson's pastel colored triple sheer crepe ensemble (as seen at left) gave it great distinction. Glamorous from her sleek coiffure to her gleaming evening slippers was Lilyan Tashman (right), in an exquisitely cut brocade gown, with the new low square front neckline and high back, topped by a gold jacket with cape sleeves.

ABOVE—Younger than ever and positively radiant was Polly Moran (left) in a sumptuous long fur dolman, mink edged, topped a chiffon gown with a lovely white lilac and lily of the valley shoulder bouquet. All fur sleeves and trailing sash seemed the stunning, sleek black satin wrap that Lilyan Tashman (right) wore over a marvelously cut white satin gown with asymmetrical neckline. Magnificent silver fox in tiers made the flaring cape sleeves of the wrap.

RIGHT—Pink lace and a fitted ermine wrap captured both the youthful charm and dignity of Una Merkel. Her coiffure was among the most interesting, a side-parted one, with little curls here, there, everywhere, including the back of her neck. She wore gauntlets of white, with flaring cuffs, and carried one of the new evening pouch bags, also in white.

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON

SAYS STUPIDITY GOT GERMANY INTO WAR

Germany got into the World War solely because of the excessive stupidity and incompetence of her statesmen in 1914, and lot it once she got in—because no one seemed to have sufficient intelligence to throw the stupid and incompetent ones out of office.

So declares the Prince von Bulow pre-war chancellor of the German empire, in the third volume of his "Memoirs." This book, covering the years from 1909 to 1919, is one of the most interesting and illuminating books on the war yet written.

The villain of the piece—naturally, perhaps—is von Bulow's successor as chancellor, Bethmann-Hollweg. Upon him von Bulow pours a merciless fire.

In 1914, he asserts, Germany had more reason to wish peace than any other nation in Europe. Bethmann-Hollweg had not the slightest desire for war, not even when he gave Austria the famous "blank check" after Sarajevo. He deluded himself into thinking war would be confined to Austria and Serbia; then he was positive that England would not come in; then he failed to take the simple steps which would have kept Italy and Rumania neutral.

In 1914, he asserts, Germany had more reason to wish peace than any other nation in Europe. Bethmann-Hollweg had not the slightest desire for war, not even when he gave Austria the famous "blank check" after Sarajevo. He deluded himself into thinking war would be confined to Austria and Serbia; then he was positive that England would not come in; then he failed to take the simple steps which would have kept Italy and Rumania neutral.

Some allowance, of course, must be made for the fact that von Bulow tries throughout to show how much better it would have been for Germany if he had only been chancellor. But that detracts very little from the high value the book possesses. As a commentary on Germany's wartime statesmanship and as a glimpse behind the scenes of big events it is unsurpassed.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

And that he would shew the secrets of wisdom, that they are double to that which is! Know therefore that God exacteth of thee less than thine inquiry deserveth.—Job 11:6.

I have lived to know that the secret of happiness is never to allow your energies to stagnate.—Adam Clarke.

The TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN PICTURES BY JOE KING

"You see," exclaimed the old play man, "I do most everything I can to see that all the play toys work before they're shipped away."

"The jumping jacks that jumped around have learned just how to bounce and bound. It won't be long until they'll join some youngster in his play."

Then Duncy said, "I'm curious, so will you please tell all of us just why that rubber ball jumped, too? Why, look! It's jumping now!"

The play man answered, "Well, that ball is trained and helps me teach them all. The ball begins to jump and then the little jacks learn how."

The rubber ball then rolled away and Scouty said, "What's next to-day? I'd like to see some other things. This is a lot of fun."

"Do you have tops that spin around? I love to watch them on the ground. It's funny how a little string will always make them run."

"Oh, my, you're wrong," the man replied. "Don't tell me you have never spied a top that toppled over 'stead of whirling 'round just right."

"But that is not the top's fault, son. It all depends on how it's done. Some youngsters wind the string up loose. Then, what a funny sight!"

It wasn't long until the Tinies got another thrill. The play man brought some new tops out and they began to spin.

Said Windy, "They are dandy. Gee! They must get dizzy as can be." Some of the small tops heard him and it seemed it made them grin.

One top cried out, "Oh, we're all right. We'd spin from morning until night and then not grow all tired out. That's because we're trained real well. Tomorrow we'll be shipped away and with us some small boys will play. I hope I find a real nice boy who'll keep me who can tell?"

TODAY IS THE WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY

OSTEND BOTTLED UP

On May 9, 1918, a successful attempt was made by the British to block the harbor of Ostend. A previous attempt had failed, and the British concentrated a large force for the second effort.

A smoke screen was laid down over the entrance to the harbor by small craft. The battered old warship, Vindictive, was maneuvered into position by a crew of officers, and sunk in the channel with her insides full of concrete. Heavy gunfire from defending positions accounted for several casualties among the attacking party.

Only a few officers and men were left on board the Vindictive to sink her. A motor launch assisting in picking up these men was hit several times and nearly sank before it reached the admiral's vessel, the destroyer Warwick.

"FEELING FINE"

Tacoma, Wash.—It takes quite a knock on the head to make Robert Carr, 13, feel bad. The youth was watching a field meet here and was hit on the head by a 12-pound shot as he stepped in the range of the shot-putters. He was rushed to the hospital unconscious. Next day he reported that he was "feeling fine."

HOPE DIAMOND CURSE REVIVED AS MRS. McLEAN PAYS $100,000 LINDBERGH BABY "RANSOM"

Traditional Bad Luck Is Seen In Latest Misfortune for Gem's Owner

By NEA Service—

Washington — Has the curse of the great Hope diamond struck again in the latest misfortune to befall Mrs. Edward M. McLean?

Has the woman who defies superstition to wear this sinister gem been mocked again by the spell that has taken a toll of death and heartaches from every owner through three centuries?

Mrs. McLean says she gave Gaston B. Means, former friend of President Harding and ex-federal sleuth, $100,000 in cash when Means assured her he could secure the return of the Lindbergh baby. She charges him with larceny of the fund entrusted to him in which she now brands as a hoax.

Friends with a flair for the romantic are wondering if this incident is another example of the bad luck that has dogged the McLeans ever since the Washington published presented the beautiful but ill-omened Hope diamond to his wife.

For the loss of $100,000 in cold cash, if it is lost, is not the little trouble that has marked the career of this wealthy member of Washington's highest social set.

Her home, formerly one of the gayest and most brilliant social centers in the nation's capital, is broken up. She and her rich husband have parted, and he has married another. Their idolized son is dead—struck down by an automobile despite every precaution.

Their story is perhaps the most colorful in Washington.

Parents of both Mr. and Mrs. McLean were millionaires many times over. "Ned" McLean was the son of John R. McLean, owner of the Cincinnati Enquirer and Washington Post. Evelyn Walsh, who became his bride, was the daughter of the millionaire Colorado copper king, Tom Walsh. They started society in 1908 by eloping.

Washington soon began to notice them. They entertained lavishly, spending money with dazzling ease. They served dinner parties on plates of solid gold, hired high priced stars of the Metropolitan Opera Company to sing for their guests.

In 1911, McLean bought the Hope diamond for $187,000 and presented it to his bride. He scoffed at the superstition, a 300-year old trail of tragedy and misfortune that lay behind the great stone.

The Hope diamond, of course has a history. A French traveler who bought it in India in 1638 lost his fortune soon after and was torn to death by wild dogs in Russia.

His son gave the jewel to King Louis XIV of France, who gave it to one of his favorites, Madame de Montespan. She soon lost her place in the monarch's affections and another court favorite to whom it was presented was guillotined two years later.

The diamond succeeded to Marie Antoinette, who let the Princess de Lamballe wear it. The princess was killed by a mob during the revolution the queen beheaded. The stone vanished but turned up in London, after two suicides had been involved in its passage.

Lord Hope bought it and thus it gained its name. Soon after, Lord Hope's wife eloped with a lover and he sold the diamond to a London jeweler, who immediately went bankrupt.

It next passed to Sultan Abdul Hamid of Turkey, who lost his throne.

Eventually it found its way to New York, where McLean bought it for his bride.

For a time the happiness of the McLeans continued, but later the shadow of tragedy began to cross their lives.

The first act in the series of tragic events was the death of their son, Vinson, heir to a fortune of $100,000,000.

From birth, the child had been guarded and protected by every precaution that could be thrown around him. A special railroad car was built for his travels, to guard against train sickness and sudden shocks. The McLean mansion near Washington was surrounded by a high stone wall, as a protection against intruders. Detectives accompanied his nurse every time they ventured out.

One day Vinson was playing in his walled playground when a gardener, not noticing the child left the gate open. The boy darted out to the roadway for an instant, wild to see the open world. But he ran directly in the path of an oncoming automobile and was killed instantly.

Someone asked Mrs. McLean if she would dispose of the Hope diamond then. She replied: "It al-

Ever since the death of her son, Vinson, evil luck has dogged Mrs. Edward B. McLean, shown at right wearing some of her extensive collection of jewels. Despite extraordinary precautions the boy was run down by a ramshackle auto in front of the McLean estate at Washington D. C. Some see in the succession of tragedies that have split up the McLean household the traditional evil influence of the fabulous Hope diamond, shown above, which was given to Mrs. McLean by her estranged husband. Now Gaston B. Means, upper left, is accused by Mrs. McLean of taking $100,000 of her money to ransom the Lindbergh baby. Is this another of Mrs. McLean's unlucky exploits, shadowed by the Hope diamond curse?

ready has brought me all the suffering it possibly can bring. I will keep it."

The McLeans continued to play a big part in Washington society, and with the coming of the Harding administration they rose to new heights. Senator Harding had been one of McLean's closest friends, and Mrs. Harding had been a very close friend of Mrs. McLean. Their home soon became Washington's most brilliant social center.

The highest officials of the Harding administration frequently visited there. Among them were Attorney General Daugherty and Secretary of the Interior Albert M. Fall.

Then tragedy, in the form of the scandals of the Harding administration, crossed their path again and the McLean's social prominence faded. Daugherty and Fall departed from their high positions of trust. President Harding died before the expiration of his term, and Mrs. Harding died soon thereafter.

McLean tried to save his friend Fall by telling a Senate committee that he had loaned Fall $100,000 which had mysteriously come into the latter's possession. Later it was shown that this was an old bribe that Fall had received and McLean admitted his statement was false.

More recently domestic tragedy has crept into the private lives of the McLeans. They separated.

News of the rift between them came when Mrs. McLean filed suit for separate maintenance, claiming that her husband had refused to support his wife and three children. She asked $10,000 monthly, stating that it cost them at least $4000 a month to live. A Washington judge awarded her $7500 monthly.

McLean went to Mexico and sought to obtain a divorce, but was balked by Mrs. McLean's attorneys who got an injunction in a Washington court. Nevertheless, McLean married while in Mexico and took his bride — the former Rose Douras Van Cleave of Long Island, N. Y. — with him to Europe.

In Paris he told reporters that he would travel around the world if necessary, to obtain a divorce that would be binding. His reason he said, was that he had already married again.

In Riga, Latvia, McLean tried again last December. He filed suit and mailed the summons to his wife in a box disguised as a Christmas gift. Mrs. McLean opened it. The net result was that the District of Columbia court

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — With the various states clicking off ratification of the so-called "lame duck" amendment to the constitution—changing the dates for the sessions of Congress and inauguration of the President—it begins to look as if some sort of a record will be set.

Twelve state legislatures have been in session since the passage of this proposed amendment, and at present 12 have ratified. Louisiana's general assembly is in session this month.

But on January 1, 1933, 33 state legislatures will be convened, and since it requires only 36 approvals to make it a law there would seem to be a good prospect that before a year elapses the necessary number may be in the bag.

This would even beat the record made in ratification of the 18th amendment. Around 12 months were required with that amendment, and the usual explanation given for such speed is the fact that the country was at the time of its submission in the stress and turmoil of the war.

QUESTION OF PAY—With so much talk and agitation at present about slashes in federal salaries, this "lame duck" amendment to the constitution brings forward an increasing aspect of the question.

If 36 states ratify by October 15, 1933, the terms of the members of congress elected this fall will end on January 3, 1935. Instead of March 4 of that year. For the amendment provides that Sections 1 and 2 shall take effect on October 15, following its ratification.

These sections deal with the term of the President, vice president, members of congress and the date of the assembling of congress.

Thus it will be seen that there is a period of around 60 days between January 3 and March 4 which will be lost in pay to the member of congress who fails to be reelected to that first congress under the new law.

Also the question arises as to how the President, elected this fall, will be affected as to salary.

A PUZZLER—The constitution expressly states that the salary of the President "shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected."

The President elected this November automatically goes out of office, under the provisions of the "lame duck" amendment, if ratified in time, on January 20, 1937, instead of March 4, 1937. There is a period of about 43 days between these two dates that he will lose. But will he lose it? Does the constitution guarantee him pay for these 43 days?

That's a puzzle that may require the services of a court.

If there is anything to the gossip making the rounds in the capital on the eve of nominating convention time, then one of the most famous heirlooms of the democratic party—exactly 100 years old—is probably headed for the ash heap.

It is the much maligned and praised two thirds rule—that vehicle of democratic conventions which requires a two thirds vote to nominate a candidate for President and vice president.

None will go so far as to say that it will be abolished this year. But there are many who predict and favor action at the 1932 convention which would see its elimination in the democratic scheme of things by 1936.

There's Senator Dill of Washington, recognized as one of the Roosevelt leaders in the Senate. Joe Robinson of Arkansas, candidate for the vice presidency in 1928. Senator Tydings of Maryland, chairman of the senatorial elections committee, and Joe A. Byrns of Tennessee, chairman of the congressional elections committee, are others.

SOUTH CHANGING STAND—Representative Crisp of Georgia and Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi also have expressed their accord with such a move.

It is the presence of these southern democratic leaders in the ranks of those opposed to the two-thirds rule that give rise to the opinion that something might be done.

Traditionally the South has clung to the rule. It afforded the famed "solid south" an opportunity to keep from the nomination any man to which it was opposed. But with this opposition apparently breaking down, it might be possible to start something in Chicago in June which would be productive of real results by 1936.

AGITATION NOT NEW—Agitation to abolish it is not

New York Athletic Commissioner Adopts His 45-Year-Old Secretary

For the first time in his life, at the age of 86, he "feels the need of someone to pay a little attention" to him. So William Muldoon, millionaire member of the New York State Athletic Commission, has adopted his 43-year-old secretary, Margaret V. Farrell of White Plains, N. Y., to make her his heir. Here they're pictured together. She has been in Muldoon's employ for twelve years and helps to arrange his business affairs.

ing new. It has been fought and defended since, as has few other democratic principles.

Glancing back over those 100 years, it is interesting to note that generally the candidate who receives a majority of convention votes received the nomination.

Of course there are exceptions—one in particular.

Champ Clark of Missouri and

Woodrow Wilson both received a majority at the 1912 convention in Baltimore, but it was Wilson who got the necessary two-thirds.

Daily Health Talk

FOOD FACTS

The human body derives the energy wherewith it works and the substance out of which it grows and replaces its outworn parts from the foods consumed.

When analyzed the body is found to contain a number of chemical elements.

These include oxygen, carbon, hydrogen, calcium, phosphorus, potassium, sulphur, sodium, iron, chlorine, magnesium, iodine, aluminum, arsenic, boron, silicon, cobalt, copper, fluorine, manganese and zinc.

Occasionally other elements are found within the body, these being introduced through food, dust and other agencies.

The body is a working machine from the time of its conception until death causes its disintegration.

Incidental to its work the body eliminates more or less of each of its elements and these must be replaced in order that health and efficiency might be maintained.

We classify foods into five separate groups: proteins, carbohydrates, fats, essential mineral elements and vitamins.

The proteins, carbohydrates and fats supply but five of the elements found in the body. The others are derived from the ash and mineral contents of the foods we eat.

Proteins are complex nitrogen-containing compounds of which there are many varieties.

They are not all present in all so-called protein foods. Certain of these compounds called amino-acids are essential to life.

The common sources of protein in our ordinary diet are beans, peas, nuts and cereals, as well as meats, eggs, milk and fish.

Proteins are found both in animal and plant life. They make up a large portion of the so called soft tissues of the body.

From the human nutrition viewpoint, vegetable protein is not as good in quality as animal protein, but the body works best on a diet containing an admixture of the two.

The exclusive meat diet and the exclusive vegetable diet, while capable of sustaining life, are not as good as a combination of both.

Tomorrow — Vitamin Sources.

DIXON WINNER OF TRACK MEET HERE SATURDAY

Boys Go To Freeport On Saturday For Sectional Contests

BY DON HILLIKER

Its second conference trophy tucked safely away, Dixon high school's track squad is pointed toward the Freeport sectional meet Saturday, May 14. Dixon won the North Central meet here Saturday, which saw eight records established and one tied, by totaling 58 points. Sterling was runner-up on 49, DeKalb third with 27, Belvidere had 20 and Mendota 11.

Tonight on the local field a dual meet with Mt. Morris is scheduled. A good contrast between the Rock River and North Central conferences should result as each team is the track and field champion of its respective league. Thursday after school the annual Dixon-Sterling cross-country run will be held in Sterling.

Saturday's finals began with Belvidere, Dixon and Sterling running close. After half the events had passed the race developed into a duel between the latter two schools. When the 880 yard run was called Dixon had 42 points and Sterling 39. Dixon's placing one-two in the half-mile the winning team was practically decided. The track was slow which prevented any outstanding work in the sprints.

Strong of Dixon and Weaver of Sterling won the two events in which they were entered for ten points and the leading totals. Each took part in the relay. Whitehead of Belvidere took the afternoon's opening race when he missed the 50 yard record by a tenth of a second. Condon and Talty were only a step back for second and third.

The discus heave was taken by Praetz of Sterling. His preliminary toss of 111 feet 8 inches broke the meet record and was good for first place in the afternoon. Fordham was Dixon's entry and placed third.

In the high hurdles Howarth of Mendota came in ahead of Schildberg of Dixon in 18.4 seconds, over a second slower than Ploimann's mark.

Condon stepped century in 11 seconds to easily win. Only a freshman this trackster should be a "whiz" in another year and might have sunk another mark Saturday if the track had been reasonably fast.

5 feet 10 inches was the height. Strong cleared to change the record book once more. He was by himself at 5-6 and in four jumps was up to the new mark. He stands a fine chance of taking Saturday's sectional jump.

DeKalb's miler, Roche, returned and not only defended his laurels, but put a mark of 4:43.6 in the annual, 1.44 seconds faster than his 1931 race. Padgett of Dixon ran third.

Praetz took another record for himself in the shot-put. His morning throw of 44 feet 8 inches stood to topple Wolford's record by four feet. Weidman of Dixon had fourth position.

A great race by Talty in which he pushed Weaver of Sterling to a new record featured the quarter-mile. Weaver's mark was 54.8 seconds. Williams of Dixon placed behind Talty for third.

While these events were being completed Ogan of Dixon, Rutt and Gordon of Sterling were fighting for the vault honors. Rutt finally won out at 10 feet 4 inches with Ogan in second place. Beech of Dixon pulled up fourth.

Weaver again had to run hard when Flannigan of Dixon surprised with a great race in the four-mile. Weaver won in 24.7 seconds. Dixon's stock raised when Strong's morning leap of 20 feet 2 inches in the broad jump, was far enough to win.

The 880 yard run was taken by Smith of Dixon in 2:09.6 a new record. Compton of Dixon had a hard fight with McCann of DeKalb for second place but a great sprint in the final 100 yards led him only two yards back of the winner.

DeKalb helped Dixon toward the championship by taking first and last in the javelin. Sterling got two points and Dixon three. Salkowsky of the Swedes had a record-smashing throw of 163 feet 11 inches to win. Ogan of Dixon placed second.

Terhune pushed Sterling up five points when he easily trimmed Howarth of Mendota to take the low hurdles in 28.7 sec.

The Dixon relay team copped the award in the closing event. Condon was two yards behind he passed the baton to Talty. Talty evened things and Strong grabbed a lead which Ogan lengthened for a 1:35 victory.

In four meets this season Dixon has come out on top but tonight and Saturday will have some real tests. Saturday May 21 should see some of the local team in action at the state meet in Champaign.

Loughran To Try Come Back Again

New York, May 9 (AP)—For the second time in three years Tommy Loughran is about to hit the comeback trail he hopes will lead him once more into boxing's "big money."

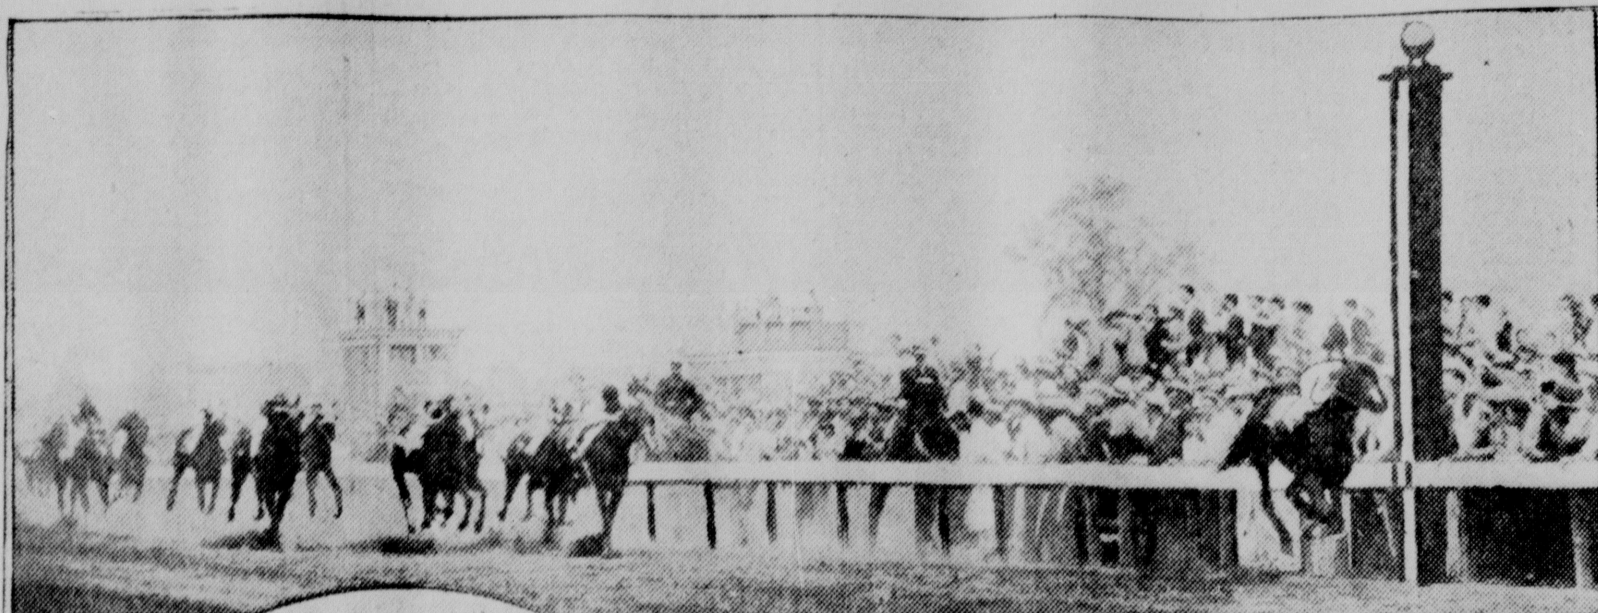

The popular Philadelphia veteran, tackles the deadly punching Steve Hamas of Passaic, N. J., in a ten rounder at Philadelphia on Wednesday night.

It was Hamas incidentally, who sent Tommy into his most recent retirement. After Loughran had absorbed a terrific lacing from King Levinsky in Madison Square Garden in December, he was sent in against Hamas in the same ring in January. Hamas knocked him down and out with one terrific punch to the jaw in the second round.

Heavyweights top the program in other tight centers this week. Ernie Schaaf, Boston contender, meets the Philadelphia southpaw, Jack Gross, in the Garden Friday night; Mickey Walker, Runtson, N. J., tackles old Johnny Risko of Cleveland in a 12 rounder at Cleveland Tuesday; and Charley Beizaff of Duluth and Jimmy A. Braddock of Jersey City tangle at Boston Friday.

At the table of the Roman Emperor Hellogalalus, combs of cocks were considered a great delicacy.

DERBY WINNER—Flashes Down the Stretch to Victory With the Pack at His Heels in Kentucky's Classic. The Crowd Hails—BURGOO KING!

The smashing victory scored by Burgoo King in the 58th Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs is shown above. Burgoo King, with an impressive 5-length lead, is pictured at the top flashing across the finish line to score for his owner, Col. E. R. Bradley. This was the third Bradley Derby victory, an unsurpassed record for a horseman. Economic, which placed after leading the field nearly all the way around, is shown slightly in front of the pack. Below Burgoo King is shown wearing the floral wreath of triumph as he poses in front of the judge's stand. At the right, a mounted policeman is pictured escorting "the King" to the exclusive spot, the winner's circle. The jockey is Eugene James, and his skillful ride on the winner made it a clean sweep for the Blue Grass country since owner, jockey and horse are "Kentucky bred."

Hooks and Slides

By William Braucher
The comeback vogue which Jack Dempsey seems to have started has spread afar. Now we have the spectacle of Johnny Dundee trying to call back the lost years.

THE DOUGH GOES HOME
FLYWEIGHT BABE TRISCARO, former amateur champion and winner of 13 straight fights since becoming a professional, has to borrow two-bits from the folks when he wants to go to a movie. But that's his own wish, as he doesn't handle any of the money he earns by fighting, but lets his manager, Ollie Downes, take it home to the mama.

CARNERA LOSES
PRIMO CARNERA was busted on the nose by a blond show girl's straight left the other day, after which he took a right cross to the chin. That probably puts him out of consideration for a bout with Jack Dempsey this summer.

CANT MISS FREE SHOW
JIMMY JENNINGS, one of our New York operatives, sends along the information that the Schmeling-Sharkey fight scheduled for June 21 in New York, will be postponed because a great many politicians are busy.

McGraw Changes Mind
JOHN McGRAW contributes the opinion that the three teams that will fight it out for the National League pennant this year are New York, Chicago and Cincinnati. Previously, Mr. McGraw had named as contenders New York, Chicago and St. Louis, so you may infer that he has changed his mind.

YOUTH and AGE
JERRY TRAVERS and Billy Howell will play "Bunny and 'Ducky' Cocker" at Baltimore May 22 to help the Olympic fund along. Jerry won his first amateur golf championship six years before Billy Howell was born.

NOT ENOUGH FISH
JACK SHARKEY begins his training campaign leading up to the Schmeling encounter by going fishing. He would have to fish a long while, however, to find enough to fill that stadium.

FRANKIE PLEASE WRITE
FRANKIE FRISCH hasn't broken into print lately. He is the second baseman of the world champion (1931) Cardinals and predicted in March that Dizzy Dean would make the fans forget Burleigh Grimes.

PAGING MR. GRIMES
MEANWHILE Mr. Grimes, who has been down with flu, has been of no help to the Cubs, but they have been winning without him. When Mr. Grimes gets going, Mr. McGraw might have something else to say about the pennant race, but it wouldn't be anything for print.

AND LOUDLY, TOO!
FLOYD "BABE" HERMAN is not a radio broadcaster, but every time he makes a base hit in Cincinnati, it echoes all over Brooklyn.

GRAPPLERS GET IT
M. JACQUES CURLEY, whose wrestlers are swarming all over the country, has been forced to move from his little office into a suite in the Times building. Maybe the wrestlers will bring back prosperity. At least they have brought it in certain quarters.

BUD GOES TO WORK
BUD TEACOUTS' vacation is over. Bud is the pitcher sent from the Cubs to the Cardinals in the Grimes-Wilson deal. The Cards didn't have enough uniforms to go around, so Bud had to sit in the stands most of the time. Now Bud has been sent to Rochester, Cardinal farm. Maybe the Cardinals' front office figured that would be cheaper than acquiring another uniform.

DERBY WINNER TO DEFEND HIS TITLE IN EAST

Burgoo King to Start In Preakness Coming Saturday

BY ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Editor
New York, May 9 (AP)—Monday of the three-year-olds today, Burgoo King will lose no time defending the thoroughbred crown won in a sensational victory in the Kentucky Derby.

The newest champion of the famous racing establishment of Lexington, Ky., probably will go to the post this Saturday in the rich Preakness at Pimlico, Md., against most of the eastern colts beaten so soundly Saturday by the son of bubbling over.

Thus the tide of three-year-old battle is reversed with a western champion coming east to seek further conquests, where in the past two years Gallant Fox and Twenty Grand moved victoriously from east to west and back again.

Two records were smashed and a third equalled by Burgoo King's triumph in the 58th running of the Derby, which carried a gross value of $62,875 and added $52,360 to the Bradley coffers.

It marked Col. Bradley's third victory, thereby breaking the deadlock he shared with three other owners. Likewise it gave his trainer, Dick Thompson, the distinction of saddling a third winner, for another record. Bradley entries ran one-two in 1921 with Behave Yourself-Black Servant and again in 1926 with Bubbling Over-Baggage.

The "Father-son" achievement of Bubbling Over and his ches not offspring, Burgoo King, duplicated the record of Halma, 1895 Derby winner, and sire of Alan-a-Dale, victor in 1902.

Having proved the best of the lot at Churchill Downs, Burgoo King will go to the post a favorite in the Preakness but it may prove another wide-open race.

The five eastern colts that trailed the Bradley star in order—Economic, Stepenfitch, Brandon Mint, Over Time and Tick On—may benefit from better racing luck or the shorter distance, one mile and three-sixteenths. Tick On, the Derby favorite, may redeem himself for the bad behavior that ruined his chances at the barrier Saturday.

DIXON RIFLEMEN WIN MATCH HELD ON GALT RANGE

Defeat Rock Falls At 30 Calibre Contest In Sunday Match

The Dixon Rifle club fired its first 30 calibre match yesterday on the old militia range south of Galt. The opponent was the Rock Falls team which was defeated by a score of 356 to 352. This was the first of a series of three matches all to be fired at 200 yards, but each with a different course of fire. Six teams, Company M, 129th Infantry of Sterling, Rock Falls, Erie, Harmon, Lee Center and Dixon are competing.

The team having the highest aggregate score at the end of the three matches receives a trophy. Each man who makes 225 or over out of a possible 250 for a total score in the three matches will receive a silver Expert Rifleman's medal, each one making between 210 and 225 will win a Sharpshooter's medal and those making between 190 and 210 will receive a Marksman's medal. Besides these the Dixon Rifle club has donated a medal to be awarded the rifleman making the highest score.

The match yesterday consisted of ten shots in prone position for each man, slow fire, 200 yards and five shots sitting at 200 yards on the Army "A" target. The scores of the five men of the Dixon and Rock Falls teams follows:

Prone Sit Total
O. F. Goekke ..... 50x50 24x24 74x75
R. Wagner ..... 49 25 74
D. Chapman ..... 47 24 71
A. H. Perge ..... 46 23 69
H. Williamson ..... 47 21 68
TOTALS ..... 239 117 356

ROCK FALLS—
Gaulrapp ..... 50 25 75
Howe ..... 45 25 71
Tomkins ..... 43 21 69
Middleton ..... 47 23 69
Shryp ..... 47 21 68
TOTALS ..... 238 114 352

The Dixon Rifle team will meet Harmon at the Harmon range, on May 22 for the next match. The course of fire will be five shots kneeling and ten shots in standing position at a distance of 200 yards.

Former Cub Player Gets Season Pass

Ward T. Miller of this city has received a very acceptable gift from President William Veck of the Chicago Cub baseball club in the form of a season ticket to the Cub baseball park. Miller was a member of the Cub baseball club during the reign of the late Frank Chance as manager when the Tink-or-to-Evers-to-Chance double play combination was feared by every National League baseball club. The Dixon man at that time played in the outfield. He is one of the few living members of the Cub organization of that time and it is due to this fact that President Veck of the Cub management has forwarded him the very acceptable courtesy in form of a beautifully engraved season pass to the Cub park in Chicago.

In Switzerland, cellophane is being used as a bat brand.

REINS OF DIXON GOVERNMENT ARE WITH OFFICIALS

The High School Students Released Government Affairs Saturday

BY DON HILLIKER

Once more the city is under the control of Mayor Dixon and his associates. High school seniors are again mere citizens and the excitement and bustle of the election is a thing of the past.

Last Saturday will be remembered as a day of significance in the city's history. Students carried out the various duties in fine style and left an enviable impression upon the townspeople and outsiders.

A council meeting was conducted Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in the city hall. Mayor Habacker ordered the relay called by City Clerk Lois Steacy and the affair was on.

The first report was given by Donald Ortiguesen, health officer. He had made an extensive tour of the city during the day and reported a number of unsanitary conditions.

Evelyn Simpson of the hospital board outlined the work and sent a brief history of the local hospital. The board members had made an interesting inspection of the nurses' home and the hospital during the day.

The former Lee county fair grounds on West First street is the site of a proposed playground brought forward by the Park Board with Randall Willburt, Laverne Atkinson, Robert Palmer, Wendell Glesener and Mary Jane Preston as speakers. Two baseball diamonds, a football field, tennis courts and all amusements would be included in the project. The motion by Commissioner Lambert was accepted.

Announcements of the Library Board were given by Helen Finley. She gave an interesting talk on the present library and the proposed juvenile department in the basement of the local building.

The recently formed Band Commission had as its speaker Grace Ortiguesen. She spoke of the duties of the group and of the expectations and hopes of the people interested. Band uniforms are now in the process of arrangements and are expected to be ready by Decoration Day.

City Engineer Floyd Shore reported on the great number of local improvements now under construction or still in progress. The paving of East Second street from Artesian Place to Steel Avenue, a storm sewer on the north side and the high school park were referred to as examples of a few of this official's affairs.

Chief of Police Bales described the work of his department on Saturday from 8:15 morning when the oath was taken until 5 o'clock. Twenty-five tickets were issued for violation of ordinances and a small amount of revenue was collected for the school treasury. Five arrests were executed with four of the defendants whiling away some time behind the bars.

False alarms seemed to be the main part of the program for the Fire Department according to Chief Stanley Biggart. He told of the work of each "fireman" and expressed the view of all that they had gained a valuable bit of knowledge from the day's experience.

On motion of Commissioner Sterling a resolution for the renovation of the local depots was passed and referred to the city clerk and city attorney for further legislation.

Commissioner Tayman suggested that fire hazards on the west side of Peoria avenue between First and Second streets be condemned and removed. This motion was immediately affirmed.

Jobs from the city for unemployed heads of families and payment in script was the content of Commissioner Lambert's motion. After some discussion the motion was accepted by the Commissioners but Mayor Habacker cast in the negative.

Thanking all for the splendid manner in which the plans were completed Mayor Habacker returned the gavel of the city to Mayor Dixon. That is was an interesting and inspiring happening and that it should be a yearly affair of the school was expressed by Mayor Dixon.

The motion for adjournment by Commissioner Talty was read, affirmed and the great day in school work was ended.

PALMYRA

By Mrs. J. I. Kendall

Palmyra—Miss Harriet Harms who suffered severe burns on her hands and arms last Thursday while putting wet coke in the furnace is improving at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harms.

Shoemakers Trim Sterling Sunday

The William B. Johnson Shoe Co. baseball team won their opening game on the home diamond Sunday afternoon by defeating the Sterling Athletic Association club by a score of 25 to 5. Kirk and Henley did the pitching for the shoemakers with William and Paddy McDonald on the receiving end. The Sterling pitchers were pounded hard from the start and errors coupled to pile up a heavy count for the locals.

Dick Hartman, a Nashville, Tenn. bowler, flagged 18,641 pins in 16 hours of bowling.

No Mews Are Bad News

"Rubio," refusing to be kittenish and acting caty instead, wouldn't court the mews when this young Spanish lieutenant tried to get her to purr-form for the sound film cameras. Instead, she stood up for her rights, as this picture shows—thus probably averting the cat-astrophe of being whipped with a cat-nine-tails. The scene is in New York Harbor aboard a visiting Spanish training ship—which it NOT a cat boat.

MOTHERHOOD IS SERMON THEME SUNDAY NIGHT

Tabernacle Is Packed To Hear Evangelist On Mother's Day

The big tabernacle on West Boyd Street was again packed to capacity with many standing at last night's service. Rev. Grady Cantrell, evangelist, was at his best and brought an eloquent and touching sermon upon the "Glory of Motherhood." Ray Harris led in a rousing thirty-minute song service interspersed with special numbers.

A bit of drama was introduced with the singing of "Mother McCree" by Charles W. Daugherty, of Winona Lake, Ind., who has charge of Mr. Roedhaver's work there. "Mother McCree" was actually on the platform as Mr. Daugherty sang to her. The tabernacle was greatly appreciated. Mrs. Zeigler sang "Star of the Home." An original poem was read, composed by Mr. Anderson of this city. Ray Harris sang "Tell Mother I'll Be There."

At the close of Mr. Cantrell's sermon he invited the mothers present who wished to pray for their boys or girls and who wished prayers to be made for their dear ones to come forward. About one hundred mothers responded and stood in front of the pulpit with bowed heads while the evangelist offered an eloquent and touching prayer for their beloved children.

The gospel invitation was extended by the evangelist and about twenty responses were had. Others filed into the Upper Room with the converts for consecration.

Sunday afternoon's service was well attended. Evangelist Cantrell delivered a strong address for law enforcement and in favor of the Eighteenth Amendment. His lecture was pronounced by many as the best prohibition address heard in the city for many years.

The evangelist announced that he would preach upon the "Sins of Dixon" next Friday night. On Sunday evening he will preach upon the topic, "Lost But Still Living." There will be another mass meeting for everybody next Sunday afternoon at 2:30. At this service the evangelist will preach upon, "The Second Coming of Christ and the End of the World."

There will be no service tonight as the evangelistic party observes Monday as rest night. The Young People's Conference will hold their banquet tonight at 6:00 in the Christian church. Plates will be set for 150. Tomorrow evening the services will resume for the week at the tabernacle and it will again be Sunday School night.

Following is Rev. Cantrell's Mother's Day sermon in part: "When I preach a sermon on Mother, an eulogy is expected, but as Abraham Lincoln, once said, 'My friends it cannot be to add brightness to the sun or glory to the name of mother.'"

"When God hurls a world into space He sees to the job himself, but to a newborn babe. He gave a mother. What a wonderful opportunity to pilot a soul into the port of eternal safety."

"I don't believe there's an angel in Heaven that wouldn't be glad to trade places with a mother and throw in a harp and crown to boot."

"When I see a boy following his mother, he is O. K. But if I see him staggering down the street, cursing and damning and squinting tobacco, I walk up to him and ask what's wrong. The answer comes: 'He—trying to be a man—imitating dad or dad's friend.' Say men, let's straighten up! Our mothers, daughters and wives have as much right to cuss and damn, squirt tobacco juice and tell dirty rotten stories and fill their old hides full of rotten booze as we have. God is the respecter of persons. He don't give a whoop whether we wear a pug hat or hapsins, smoke a corn-cob or use a powder puff."

Girls vs. Boys.
"There's an old saying 'Girls are better than Boys.' I will admit it—but it is not their fault, they are up against it."

"Children are hero-worshippers and imitators. The difference is spelled in pants and petticoats. The girls wear dresses and imitate their ma's. Boys wear pants and imitate their pa's. They want to be a man."

"I like a red blooded boy who wants to be a man. So men, let's conduct ourselves so boys won't have to drink, cuss and damn everybody and everything in order to be a man."

"If a man didn't smoke, a boy never would."

"Men, women, don't neglect your children."

DROP INVESTIGATION.

Los Angeles, May 7.—(AP)—An investigation into what was described by Joan Crawford, film star, as an attempt to extort money, was dropped today by the District Attorney's office.

Investigators said the actress' apparent fear was based on a note which was slipped under the door of her home, asking for an appointment.

At the suggestion of investigators, she met the writer, who proved to be an eastern youth. The conversation was recorded on a dictation machine and after being taken into custody and questioned, the youth was released.

Neither the subject of the conversation, the name of the youth nor an explanation from the actress of what led her to fear the note was an extortion plot was disclosed.

Kansas City, May 9.—(AP)—

Gene Dixon, non-playing captain of the United States Davis Cup squad looks upon Australia as America's biggest hurdle in the coming international tests.

Here yesterday with three members of the squad for an exhibition engagement. Captain Dixon spoke enthusiastically of the United States team's chances of winning the cup.

"We have a great chance of winning the trophy this year," he said, "but, unlike other seasons we are going to meet a great test in Australia before we earn the right to compete abroad. If we get by that successfully our boys should be in great condition to sweep through to the championship."

States Should Decide Methods Of Duck Hunting

Chicago—Inasmuch as the ranks of the waterfowl hunters in the United States have been disturbed by charges and counter charges with respect to the practices of using live decoys and the so called baiting of ducks, why not have legislatures instead of the Federal government handle these questions of local hunting methods, asks the Izaak Walton League in a recent conservation bulletin.

The League points out that in some states the questions of live decoys and the feeding of waterfowl either through an abundance of planted food stuffs or the furnishing of shelled corn and other grains are local. Moreover, methods of hunting vary greatly in different states. The kind of blind that is legal and sports in one locality, or a method of hunting that does not result in overkilling in one state may be unsportsmanlike or outlawed in another section, or even result in slaughter under certain conditions. Therefore it seems unwise to ask the Federal government to step in and regulate every practice or method of taking waterfowl in individual states.

However, recognizing the conflicting opinions on this question of live decoys and duck baiting, the Walton League endorsed the following resolution at its recent convention, putting responsibility for sportsmanship or hunting methods upon the states. The resolution was as follows:

WHEREAS, many conflicting opinions are had with respect to both the baiting and use of live decoys, and the situation does call for thoughtful attention upon the part of conservationists in those state areas affected by such practice;

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED, that we sincerely recommend to the state divisions and chapters of the states in whose areas such practices are carried out, an intensive campaign of education and state action thru the respective Legislatures as may be found to be most expedient.

A recent test has revealed that steam whistles are as inefficient as they are noisy. In a test, a 12-inch whistle used 4000 horsepower in tooting just once.

The Next Best Thing to Eating REAL Grapes

Ever visit a vineyard early in the morning, when the dew still lingered on the great clusters of purple grapes? Ever squeeze them between your lips and experience the genuine thrill of that first delicious wine-like flavor? Nowhere else have you seemed to quite match that tang—until the New NuGrape came.

This unusual new drink, by a process exclusively its own, has succeeded in imprisoning the elusive tang of the dew-wet grape, just as it is plucked from the vineyard in season—clear, tingling with life, and perfumed. Yes—you can catch the bouquet of it the moment the bottle is opened. For that vivid moment, you are "In a Grape Arbor."

Try this delicious carbonated beverage today. It's now on sale everywhere for 5c.

the man HUNTERS

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SUSAN CAREY is in love with Bob Dunbar, millionaire son of DENISE ACKROYD, society girl, tries to break up the attachment and succeeds at a house party which she gives. ERNEST HEATH, Susan's employer, happens to be passing when Susan and her mother quarrel and takes her home. His wife threatens to sue for alienation of his affections but changes her mind when JACK WARING, Heath's assistant, produces an incriminating letter. RAY CLARK, NEA's stenographer in the next office, confides to Susan her distrust on hearing that "SKY" WEBB has married another girl. Ben and Susan quarrel on Christmas eve over some flowers Heath sent her. Waring, meeting Denise, learns of her interference in Susan's affairs. Heath asks Susan to be his wife when his divorce decree becomes final. She hesitates. Her aunt undergoes a serious operation and Susan decides to marry him for the sake of security. Ben follows Susan and Heath and shoots at the latter, wounding him slightly. Then Ben turns the gun on himself.

Now go on with the story CHAPTER XXXV

WHEN Jack Waring took Denise Ackroyd away from the Gledings' party on New Year's eve he had formulated no exact plan. He was by nature a meddler and he was quick, prying mind had seized on the little drama as something entertaining. He could see the triangle: Susan, the poor working girl; Denise, the spoiled child of fortune; and young Robert Dunbar, whom each hoped to win.

The visit to Tony's proved rather dull. There had been too much noise and the overheated place had made them both ill-tempered with-out quite knowing why. The man had learned little more of the story. He was determined, however, to know the rest. Driving back in the cold air he laid lazily to the girl. "When shall I see you again?"

The pale, petulant face stared straight ahead. The childish, fretful voice answered sleepily. "Don't know. Never, probably, the way I feel now. That champagne Laura fed us must have been poison. I feel wretched."

"That," countered Jack Waring easily, "was the lobster you insisted on having at Tony's. And the ice cream."

"It was the champagne," Denise insisted solemnly. "That's my story and I'll stick to it."

"You're a little mule, aren't you?" asked the man, laughing.

Denise drew her wrap around her regally. "We Ackroyds have wills of our own." She said so pompously that Waring could scarcely manage to maintain his gravity. More than ever now he was certain she had been reading Michael Arlen.

"And do you always get what you want?" He was very grave.

"Yes, Bob said. He'd do that. Waring was shrewdly silent.

"By the way," blurted Bob. "I don't suppose Miss Carey is still with you. She was married, wasn't she?"

Waring did not need to assume astonishment. "Married? No, of course not. What put that into your head?"

"I was given to understand," Bob said slowly. "Wait a minute—let me think this out. I was certainly told she was going to be married to that orchestra fellow and go to California."

Waring shrugged. "I've heard nothing about it," he said, "and I don't believe there's a word of truth in it since she's not the sort of girl to leave without giving notice. Who told you?" he pursued again.

"Honestly, I don't know," Bob said, but involuntarily his gaze strayed to the little group of which Denise was the center. She was being very gay this afternoon. She was in her element. A pasty-faced youth who had earlier advertised some vague connection with the Ackroyds was telling a story and Denise's shrill laughter was the noisiest of all.

"Let's clear out of this," Bob muttered. "We'll never be missed and I know a way we can slip out through the service entrance without being caught." Waring agreed, smiling to himself over the success of his first shot.

They swung along Michigan avenue side by side. The winter wind seemed good after the scented, hot-house atmosphere they had just left. Bob squared his shoulders and Waring, glancing sidewise at the fine profile, applauded Susan's taste.

"Do you mind if I stop in tomorrow morning to look at those things?" Bob asked him at parting. "About 11?"

"Not at all. That will be splendid," Waring told him heartily. As he went back to the hotel where he lived he felt a glow of conscious righteousness.

"It was a Boy Scout before," he reflected. "Now it looks as though I am going to be a blooming Cupid."

BUT Bob Dunbar did not come to the office the next day. He telephoned to say that the doctor had diagnosed his sore throat as quinsy, and he would not be allowed to go out for several days at least. Did Waring have Miss Carey's home address? Waring said that he did and supplied it. The young man seemed grateful.

Waring did not mention the fact that Susan was no longer at the office. He had learned it himself only that morning. Heath had explained rather stiffly that Miss Carey's aunt was ill and she would not return for some time, if at all.

"The old man's keeping some thing back," Waring said to himself. After he had given Susan's address to Dunbar he felt better. The boy would go to see her and everything would be made right.

"I've spoken that young lady's guns all right," he muttered, thinking of Denise. He looked with distaste at the girl who had come from the agency to fill Susan's place. She was tall and thin with a pink nose and pale blue eyes which looked as if she might have been crying.

"I'll miss that kid," Waring told Pierson confidentially a few minutes later.

Bob Dunbar, at home, raged and tossed about like a caged lion. Of course he could telephone Susan or write her a letter but he did not want to do either of these things. There had been misunderstandings enough between them. Bob felt he must see her face to face. What an idiot he had been all along! He must see Susan face to face and then there would be no more of this nonsense.

When Denise telephoned Bob told the Chinese boy to say he was too ill to speak. She must not come over because the sore throat was highly contagious. Bob knew that would stop Denise; she hated any sort of illness.

"We Ackroyds have marvelous health," she was fond of saying, throwing back her bright, little head arrogantly. Bob's lips curled at the memory. What a fraud she was! Why hadn't he seen through her before?

AFTER several days that had seemed endless the doctor said the young man might go out. Feeling excited and shaken, Bob climbed into a taxi and gave the driver Susan's address. The house, when he reached it, was quite dark. There was no sign of anyone about. Hopefully, he rang the bell once or twice. Then, failing to raise anyone, he slipped his card with a scrawled message on it into the mail box. Would Susan let him know when it would be convenient for him to come and call?

He came the next night, and the next, but always darkness and silence rewarded his effort. He began to be genuinely alarmed. Telephoning the office, he was informed by Miss Smith, the new secretary, that Miss Carey was not there and would not be any more. Some sickness in the family, she thought. That night Dunbar made another try and when there was no answer rang the bell of the next neighbor. A thin man in carpet slippers answered the ring.

"They're gone away and I don't know when they'll be back," the man said sourly. Since he did not know that Susan came over from the Miltons every day to see the fire he could not give Bob that ray of hope.

When Susan arrived the next day accompanied by Mrs. Milton, the older woman said idly, "Don't you want to look in the letter box, honey?"

Susan pointed to the heap of mail which was revealed as she pushed open the front door.

"The postman never uses it," she explained. If she had only known what lay behind that small iron flap.

THE PATRIOT'S MESSENGER

NO SOONER had the patriots won the victories of Lexington and Concord than that historic morning of 1775 than the provincial council decided that the news of the battle should be taken at once to London and be given to sympathizers with the American cause before the British officials could present it to the public in a light favorable to their side of the argument.

The man who was to carry this message must be a man of discretion and courage, for it was certain that he would be arrested by the officers of the crown if his mission became known. So it was entrusted to Capt. John Derby, a well-known Salem skipper, who was to make the journey on the packet Quero.

He was ordered to make for the port of Dublin or any other Irish port that seemed wise, and proceed there to London. To his orders was attached this imperative postscript: "You are to keep this order a profound secret from every person on earth."

After a voyage of 29 days the Quero reached England. As a further safeguard against betrayal of his plans, Captain Derby did not put in at an Irish port as he had been ordered to do, but sailed to the Isle of Wight and then went overland to Southampton and London. There he immediately placed his papers in the hands of Benjamin Franklin, the Massachusetts agent in London, and the next day patriot sympathizers throughout England knew of the result of the battles.

That the officials of the crown knew that an attempt would be made to bring this news to England is shown by the fact that they were on the lookout for such a messenger, who they believed would be Captain Brown, commander of the Saker. Brown, however, did not arrive in England till June 8, and by that time Captain Derby's quick trip in the Quero had resulted in presenting to the British public first the patriots' side of the story.

Although Captain Derby had fulfilled his mission successfully, he was not out of danger. There was still the chance that agents of the king would try to capture him and his preparations for departure from England were as mysterious as they had been for his leaving America. There was still danger, too, from the authorities when he returned to America and so he made a secret landing upon his return to this country. One other item in Derby's exploit is interesting. In rendering his bill to the provincial congress for the trip, he made no charge for his own expenses.

WORLD WAR BY "YARNS" LIEUT. FRANK E. HAGAN

Through the Wheat

The One Hundred and Third Infantry of the Twenty-sixth division was made up of boys from Massachusetts. New Hampshire and Vermont. If you ask some one of the One Hundred and Third who was the greatest hero in the regiment he'll probably tell you that it was Private George Dilboy of H company and he's likely to add that Dilboy was one of the greatest of all the World War heroes.

George Dilboy couldn't claim Mayflower ancestry nor a fighting heritage from Concord or Bunker Hill. He was a Greek immigrant boy, brought to this country by his father to escape persecution by the Turks six or seven years before the outbreak of the World war.

But when the One Hundred and Third made an attack near Belleau on July 18, 1918, it was George Dilboy who raced forward under the fire of German snipers and machine guns on a railroad embankment, dropping hand grenade after hand grenade until he silenced the enemy's fire and his platoon took the embankment.

But there was still work ahead. A hundred yards away across a wheat field a machine gun next opened up with its rat-tat-tat-tat. "I'm going to get that gun, lieutenant," said Private Dilboy to his platoon officer. "I'm going to fix it so my platoon can go through."

Before the officer could forbid the mad venture he was off, bayonet fixed, charging straight through the wheat toward the enemy. He had gone several yards before the astonished enemy realized that a lone American was charging the position. Then they concentrated their fire on him.

But dodging, twisting, stooping for a moment to take a potshot at them, he continued on his way.

Half way across the field he suddenly staggered. The hail of lead stopped for a moment then was renewed. Dilboy almost fell, paused a moment then tumbled forward as the machine gun fired slackened then stopped because of a jammed cartridge.

The American soldier kept on until he was 25 yards from the spitting engine of death. It opened up again and Dilboy went down. For just a moment he lay still then began to creep forward, dragging his right leg which had been cut off just above the knee.

Digging in his unimpaired foot he dragged himself closer and closer, then swung his gun forward and fired. A machine gunner went down. Dilboy crawled on another foot or two then stopped and aimed his rifle. Rat-tat-tat-tat—it could not miss now. But before those bullets tore their way through his body Dilboy had fired and a second machine gunner dropped.

The rest of the gun crew fled. A few seconds later members of H company came to his aid. They found that there was a smile on his lips. He had "fixed it so the platoon could go through."

He had "fixed it so the platoon could go through."

He had "fixed it so the platoon could go through."

He had "fixed it so the platoon could go through."

He had "fixed it so the platoon could go through."

Baseball Gossip

By HERBERT W. BARKER

Burleigh Grimes, whose name is synonymous with baseball courage, is back in harness again and the Chicago Cubs tough enough without him, are just that much more formidable.

An attack of influenza laid low the veteran right hander just as the 1932 campaign opened but he came back yesterday to survive a three-run attack by the Brooklyn Dodgers in the first inning and finally beat them, 12-5.

Max Carey's hopefuls, with Hack Wilson still out of the lineup, pounded Grimes for six hits and four runs in the first two innings. After that they nudged the ancient elbow for only six more safeties and could not score again until the ninth when the Cubs already held a 12-4 lead. Dazzy Vance, usually extremely effective against the Cubs, had one man out in the third inning when he lost control, walked three men in a row and was unceremoniously yanked. Before the inning was over the Cubs had scored five times and taken a 7-4 lead.

On the above Fisherman's Calendar the best days for fishing are indicated by a solid black fish, days not so good by a partially black fish, and poor days for fishing by a white fish. This calendar is scientifically compiled, using the moon, the signs, and every known factor that has a bearing on fishing as used by the "Old Timer," as well as the modern Sportman. Use discretion in selecting your fishing days—do not go when it is stormy, windy, tide against you, or the waters muddy—but select clear calm days when the fish shows solid black and you will find the calendar to be surprisingly accurate for both inland and deep sea fishing, and for any waters in or surrounding the United States and Canada.

This victory stretched Chicago's advantage in the National League to three full games as the Boston Braves lost their fourth straight to the Cincinnati Reds 6-5.

The New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals split a double bill. The Giants won the opener 4-1, as Carl Hubbell allowed only six hits and the Cardinals the night cap, 6-5, as the eccentric Dizzy Dean went the route for the champions.

The Washington Senators maintained their lead in the American League race by noosing out the Chicago White Sox, 6-5, in 14 innings.

Moe Berg's single drove home the winning run much to the annoyance of Ted Lyons who traveled the full route for the White Sox. Walter Johnson called on four pitchers, Marberry, Burke, Fischer and Ragland in that order.

Cleveland walloped the Philadelphia Athletics again, 8-5, and the Boston Red Sox broke an eight game losing streak at the St. Louis Browns' expense.

NEW YORK CITY

ANNOUNCES A LECTURE ON

The Fundamentals of Contract Bridge

In the Main Dining Room of

The Nachusa Tavern

Tuesday Evening, May 10

At 8:30 O'clock

Admission ..... $1.00

Mr. Frady's lecture on Bridge Fundamentals has been favorably received by contract teachers and students wherever given. The general principles underlying contract bidding and play are treated in a common sense manner that simplifies the subject for the advanced player and gives the novice a clear-comprehensive view of the game.

The lecture will be based upon the Culbertson System.

Pitched effectively and collected double and single to beat Browns. Carl Hubbell, Giants—Stopped Cardinals with six hits to win 4-1. Wally Gilbert and Mickey Heath, Reds—Led attack on Braves' pitching with three hits apiece.

THAT it takes time for any business to build a reputation strong enough to insure a steady growth.

The success of every business depends on its gaining a reputation by honest advertising and living up to its advertisements.

The advertiser who gets results is the one who advertises frequently and sufficiently.

The reputation of a business comes from satisfied customers. Satisfied customers come as a result of honest goods and honest advertising.

Today people do not seek a store—the store must seek the public by ADVERTISING!

Business concerns that have enjoyed a prosperous business year after year have been constant advertisers.

The business that has grown from a small business into a larger business has been a heavy advertiser.

The growth of these concerns has been due to giving service, carrying standard goods at standard prices, and linked with truthful advertising.

The right kind of advertising means quicker sales, better profits, increased demand, and satisfaction to both buyer and seller.

The greatest asset of any business is satisfied customers. Satisfied customers mean more customers. More customers mean a better and more profitable business.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 8.

The Golden Text was, "Man that is born of a woman is of few days and full of trouble. He cometh forth like a flower, and is cut down: he fleeth also as a shadow, and continueth not" (Job 14:1,2).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me. Cast me not away from thy presence; and take not thy holy spirit from me. Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation; and uphold me with thy free spirit" (Psalms 51:10,11,12).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "There is but one way to heaven, harmony, and Christ in divine Science shows us this way. It is to know no other reality—to have no other consciousness of life—than good, God and His reflection, and to rise superior to the so-called pain and pleasure of the senses" (p. 242).
